OIL CASES TO SUPREME COURT

MacMillan Party Sails for Polar Region

SMALL SHIPS SLIP OUT OF MAINE PORT

Governor's Request That Land Be Claimed in Name Of State Cause of Stir
PRAISE FOR AMUNDSEN
Oslo Proudly Awaits Return of Explorer from King's Bay, Spitzbergen

(By United Press)
WISCONSIN, June 20.—Out of the peaceful little harbor of Wiscasset, with the cheers and good wishes of their countrymen ringing in their ears, the explorers of the MacMillan-Polar expedition set sail this afternoon upon the most ambitious American attempt at arctic conquest since Pearly planted the Stars and Stripes at the top of the world, 16 years ago.

Even before the little vessel "Pearl" and "Bowdoin" weighed anchor, the state of Maine was disputing its right to claim sovereignty over any land the expedition might discover. Governor Brewster, in a farewell dinner, presented a state flag to MacMillan and said:

"If you find land up there, we hope you will claim it on behalf of Maine."

Those who believed this was contrary to the federal constitution were bitterly opposing Governor Brewster's view, while MacMillan, refusing to be drawn into the controversy, said nothing and ordered his expedition northward.

HOPE AMUNDSEN FLY TO OSLO
OSLO, June 20.—Oslo, waiting proudly for the return of Capt. Rolf Amundsen, hopes he will repair his airplane and fly here. An official desire has been expressed that the explorer fly down by way of King's Bay, Tromsø and along the coast.

Amundsen would first have to salvage the plane which brought him and his party of daring birdmen as far as the northernmost tip of Spitzbergen, where he transferred to the fishing vessel Sjoelvig for the journey to King's Bay. Praise of Amundsen's party still continues. And Lincoln Ellsworth, American co-leader and backer of the expedition, is receiving a large share of the national applause. The Aften Posten, chief paper of Norway, lauds him as "the savior of the expedition, adding:

"He is as great as Amundsen in this adventure."

American Minister Swenson voiced America's admiration for Amundsen's "Viking Boldness." Adding the explorer had written in golden letters a new chapter in the history of the Norwegian people.

Oil Promoter Is Accused of Fraud
LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Formal indictment charging use of the mails to defraud was returned here today by a federal grand jury, against Gilbert S. Johnson, former Fort Worth oil promoter.

Parrot With Big Vocabulary Talks No More

SAN DIEGO, June 20.—"Seventy-Word Hooligan," a parrot claimed to have had the largest vocabulary of his species, is dead today after being on exhibition 14 years at the marriage place of Ramon and Helen Hunt Jackson's novel. The bird, whenever the telephone rang, was trained to screech: "Answer that phone, somebody, quick."

2000 ATTEND HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION

Diplomas Are Granted to 209 Members of Class At 38th Commencement
HERO OF WAR SPEAKS
Captain Perigord Talks to Seniors on 'What Am I Worth to My Country?'

ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS for attendance were broken last night when more than 2000 persons attended the 38th annual commencement of the Santa Ana polytechnic high school, at which 209 members of the class of 1923 received their diplomas.

The exercises were held in the high school auditorium, Long before the opening number of the program, every available seat had been taken, and those who were unable to secure seats, witnessed the exercises from the main lobby.

The auditorium stage, decorated in greenery and cut flowers, made a pretty contrast to the light graduating frocks of the girls and the dark suits of the boys.

Graduates Take Places
The members of the graduating class took their seats on the stage to the strains of a march, "Our Nation's Pride," played by the high school orchestra.

J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, presided over the exercises, which were unusually fitting and appropriate.

Huge Tuna Is Caught At Catalina

AVALON, June 20.—While a crowd of 1000 thrilled spectators looked on, Harry Adams, member of the Tuna club, landed a 150-pound tuna off the coast here after more than five hours of angling.

Adams and the fish staged a spectacular contest, with the finny fighter employing an endless number of futile tricks to get free. The fish swerved and turned, doubled back and shot forward.

Excited witnesses even claimed that the tuna climbed into the cockpit of the boat and the angler was seen to climb out. The subdued fish weighed 149 1/4 pounds.

EDITOR KILLED AS RESULT OF POLITICAL WAR

(By United Press)
KELSO, Wn., June 20.—Police today were confident that the murder last night of Thomas Doherty, publisher of the Cowlitz County News, was the outgrowth of a bitter political struggle here.

Doherty's body was found on a side street, where he had been attacked while on his way home from a meeting of the Public Welfare association, local political organization.

He was slain by a bullet which was fired through his neck at close range. His collar was soaked by powder burns. The bullet severed the jugular vein and it was apparent he died instantly. There was no evidence of a struggle.

PRISONER KILLED IN CELL ARGUMENT
SAN QUENTIN, June 20.—Another murder, the fifth since January 1, occurred within the walls of San Quentin penitentiary today.

LA FOLLETTE REACHES OLD HOME STATE

MADISON, Wis., June 20.—"Fighting Bob" La Follette left home, his last fight over, moving slowly through throngs that lined the Northwestern railroad right-of-way into the city, the funeral cortege bearing the body of Senator La Follette drew into Madison at 1:41 this afternoon.

Through streets lined with thousands, the funeral party wended its way up toward Capitol hill, where La Follette sat as governor for six years. The city was draped in mourning and American flags placed at intervals along the curb stood in silent sentinels.

The body will be taken to the big rotunda and the doors will be thrown open to all who enter. The body will lie in state until 7:30 p. m., when the doors of the capitol will be closed until funeral services are begun at 1 p. m., Monday.

After simple rites, the body will be taken to Forest Hill cemetery and buried in the family plot beside his father and mother.

Measures to Stop Smuggling Drafted
WASHINGTON, June 20.—The treaties covering the recommendation of the El Paso conference on measures to check smuggling are being drafted here and in Mexico City, it was said at the state department today.

Why the City of Santa Ana Should Vote for the Water Bonds
By J. W. TUBBS
Chairman of City Council

The present municipal water plant is direct pressure system. The water is pumped from wells into surface reservoirs and then is pumped from the containers into the city mains, the pumps running 24 hours a day in order to maintain a uniform pressure.

All of the water is pumped by steam or electricity. Failure of one or both power sources would produce a serious situation, for the city would be without water for any purpose should the power be shut off for any great length of time, due to the fact that the storage capacity of the two reservoirs is but 8,000,000 gallons.

Robison Would Retire As Rear Admiral

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Temporary Adm. J. K. Robison, chief of the bureau of engineering of the navy, has applied to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur for retirement as rear admiral and Wilbur has recommended to President Coolidge that his application be approved.

Robison approved the naval oil leases negotiated by former Secretary of the Navy Denby and former Secretary of the Interior Fall.

He was three times passed over for promotion to permanent rear admiral because of the doubtful outcome in the courts of suits for the return of the reserves.

WOMAN BURIED ALIVE, CLAIM IN YOUNG KILLING

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Mrs. Grace Grogan Young was buried alive after her husband had declared her senses with the mental gas, sonofornito.

This is the charge that will face Dr. Thomas W. Young when he goes to trial here on August 17 for the "scientific murder" of his society wife.

District Attorneys agreed on this theory of the woman's murder today, after an extended review of the evidence already gathered by investigators.

Dr. Young's three confessions, which he repudiated by pleading not guilty yesterday, may not be used at the trial, District Attorney Asa Keyes declared.

The prosecutor said he had enough evidence to convict the little dentist and have him hanged without aid of the confessions. If necessary, they may be introduced.

Young Wives In Suicide Attempts
SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Two young wives were recovering here today from suicide attempts.

Mrs. Elinor Sast, 27, leaped to the sidewalk from a second-story apartment window following a quarrel with her husband. She refused treatment at a hospital. Her husband told police she had previously attempted suicide by jumping from a seven-story window in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Valerie Osmunson, 21, bride of a few months, took poison. Her husband, Myron Osmunson, said he knew no reason for her act.

APPEAL WILL BE TAKEN TO BRING PEACE

Conflicting Decisions on Federal Reserve Leases Mean Long Legal Battle
VIA CIRCUIT BODIES
Doheny and Sinclair Rulings Pave Way for Action In Highest U. S. Tribunal

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, June 20.—Only the U. S. supreme court can bring harmony out of the clashing decisions rendered by Federal Judges McCormick and Kennedy on vital, identical points in the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills oil lease cases, it is pointed out here.

Both are certain to land in the high tribunal, the Doheny case by way of his own appeal, and the Sinclair case through appeal by the government attorneys. Both will go through the circuit courts of appeal, entailing a year or more delay before the supreme court receives them, unless there is agreement to expedite them to final decision.

One crucial point common to both cases was the legality of the executive order issued by President Harding, transferring administration of the naval oil reserves from the navy department to the interior department.

President's Power Exceeded
Judge McCormick, inholding the Doheny leases illegal, declared this action was in excess of the president's power. Judge Kennedy held that the order was legal, but immaterial.

This is only a sample of the varying findings of facts in the two cases which must somehow be harmonized. It is not customary for the higher federal courts to rule on findings of fact in the lower courts, as they usually restrict themselves to questions of law, but such diametrically opposed findings will compel them to reassess the evidence.

The other vital points on which the judges found differently on substantially the same evidence were:

1. Loans to Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior. Judge Kennedy held that the $25,000 given Fall by Sinclair's attorneys was clearly a bribe, but that the services to Sinclair in Russia after retiring from the cabinet, Judge McCormick denounced the $100,000 given Fall by Doheny as "colossal infamy," regardless of whether it was a bribe, gift or loan.

2. Secrecy of the leases. Kennedy held there was no necessary secrecy in leasing Teapot Dome, though McCormick held that information concerning the Doheny leases was deliberately withheld from congress and the public.

3. Exchange of oil. Kennedy declared the government could pay for construction work in oil instead of cash, whereas McCormick insisted that this was an illegal usurpation of power of congress over expenditures in the executive departments.

4. The government's position under the leases—Kennedy held the Teapot Dome lease was a good one for the government and that fact in itself compelled the conclusion it should not be set aside. McCormick said in the Elk Hills case: "The injury that has been done the nation as well as the distrust of public officers, it has caused, cannot be overestimated."

FALL'S EXPECTATION FULFILLED, HE SAYS
THREE RIVERS, N. M., June 20.—The Teapot Dome decision merely fulfilled the expectations of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, he said in a statement to the United Press.

"I have no statement except to reiterate my unshaken confidence in the courts, despite another and recent decision. I have never entertained a doubt as to the final outcome of civil trials concerning the oil lease, nor of any criminal charges, despite the ravings of some senators, and despite the methods of senatorial committees."

Eventually those who care for the same will be fully informed as to my side of the oil matters."

Money Lenders Objects of Drive
WASHINGTON, June 20.—A nation-wide drive to stamp out activities of money lenders, who are offering loans to ex-service men who put up adjusted compensation certificates as security, was started today by the U. S. secret service.

Chief Moran announced that seizes 235 certificates, said to be held by a money lender, who was making approximately 100 per cent on advances to ex-service men.

Evidence uncovered by agents has been turned over to the U. S. district attorney at San Antonio "for determination," Moran said.

WATER BOND DRIVE
The present municipal water plant is direct pressure system. The water is pumped from wells into surface reservoirs and then is pumped from the containers into the city mains, the pumps running 24 hours a day in order to maintain a uniform pressure.

All of the water is pumped by steam or electricity. Failure of one or both power sources would produce a serious situation, for the city would be without water for any purpose should the power be shut off for any great length of time, due to the fact that the storage capacity of the two reservoirs is but 8,000,000 gallons.

The present maximum production from wells is but 6800 gallons per minute and the maximum demand is 8000 gallons per minute. For fires, the demand is twice that amount.

The present cost of producing water is .031 cents per 1000 gallons, not including interest on investment nor depreciation and other items than determine costs.

Under the proposed system, the cost of production would be .0258 per 100 gallons, including all expenses—interest, depreciation, etc.

The water would be produced by the new system from wells located four miles north of Santa Ana and would be pumped direct into a 30-inch line leading to Santa Ana and to the reservoir at Olive. The surplus water would go to the 47,000,000-gallon reservoir, and when the reservoir was full the pumps would be shut down and the water distributed under gravity pressure of between 75 and 85 pounds.

Our present system is entirely inadequate. The proposed plant will meet the requirement of the city for many years to come, and the reservoir and pipe line would be 100 per cent efficient should the water conservation program in the Santa Ana river be consummated later, or should water be brought in from the Colorado.

$1100 NOW IS IN FUND TO SAVE S. A. CITY BAND

With only a few hours left of the time allotted to raise $10,000 to "save" the Santa Ana Municipal band, the amount of money contributed was little more than $1100 shortly before noon today, according to Harry Hanson, chairman of activities.

The Nash Outfitting company, with a donation of $5, announced today that they would give to the band fund, $1 for every suit of clothes sold throughout the day, at their store, while C. E. Camm, superintendent of the Thermo-weave corporation, manufacturers of electrical blankets, announced that his firm would give to the band fund 5 per cent of all gross sales of his factory from now until Dec. 25, 1925.

The Loyal Knights of the Round Table, Santa Ana chapter, turned over to Hanson today a check for $75 toward the fund.

Court Notes

Marriage is Annulled

Mrs. Doris M. Shields was granted an annulment of her marriage to Donald E. Shields, alias Frank Butcher, when she told her story late yesterday to Superior Judge R. L. Williams.

Butcher was a married man, but concealed that fact as well as his true name, when he married her in Los Angeles in 1922.

Mrs. Shields testified. It was many months later before she found that her husband bore an assumed name and had two wives, including herself.

Attorney H. Delamere Thurber, of Fullerton, represented Mrs. Shields.

Injunction Not Dissolved
The city of Orange was denied its application to the superior court to dissolve an injunction preventing it from foreclosing a street paving assessment against the property of E. A. Honey, when Judge R. Y. Williams heard the matter late yesterday.

City Attorney L. F. Coburn explained the city's reason for assessing Honey's property $822, while adjacent property of equal size was assessed but $83, by stating that the improvement of the street involved much heavier labor and expense in front of the Honey property than the other.

The court, however, refused to dissolve the temporary injunction, and set the hearing on a permanent injunction for June 29 at 10 a. m.

Is Court Reporter
Mrs. Birdie Swanwick, attaché of the district attorney's office, today held certificate as an official reporter of the superior court, following her examination before representatives of the county bar association. Attorneys L. A. West, Roland Thompson and W. F. Menton conducted the examination. Mrs. Swanwick has not yet been assigned to any particular department of the court.

Telephone Workers Will Picnic Today
Approximately 300 Orange county employees of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, including scores from Santa Ana, are expected to attend the annual outing and picnic to be held at the Orange county park late today.

Baseball and other games will be followed by a feast at 6 o'clock. Dancing and other games will be played later. The dance will continue until midnight.

A special bus, to transport employees will leave the Santa Ana garage at 5 o'clock.

Locate "Lone Wolf" At Mexican Resort
LOS ANGELES, June 20.—International negotiations were started today to return John W. Worthington, "Wolf of La Salle Street," from Mexico.

The "Lone Wolf" was located at a hot springs resort near Ensenada, according to department of justice agents.

He escaped more than a week ago from the Glendale sanitarium, where he was supposed to be dying.

ACCEPTS DIPLOMAS

who had traveled a part of the road and the young man who is starting out on life's voyage.

Next on the program were two vocal numbers, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "Sylvia," by the boys' quartet.

Hammond Praises Class
In presenting the graduates to the audience, Principal D. K. Hammond pointed out that, in matter of citizenship, training and scholarship, the 1925 class was one of the best on record in the annals of the institution.

The diplomas were awarded by Alex Brownridge, president of the board of education. The acceptance speech was made by Morris Davis, class president.

In his address to the graduating class, Captain Perigord dwelt at some length upon the meaning and significance of commencement day in the life of a young person.

"Young friends," he said, "it is indeed a rare privilege that has been bestowed on you in having been allowed to continue your studies to this point. Even here in America, in the land of education and opportunity, comparatively few people can afford to remain in school up to this point, hence you should not accept your graduation as a matter of fact, but be grateful for it."

Sacrifices by Parents
"Do not forget that, written between the lines of the neatly-rolled diploma, is the silent story of your mother's worries and your father's anxieties, of the sacrifices made by them to put you through school. But parents do not speak for themselves, and they ask for nothing in return. Hug them a little tighter when you get home this evening and show them that you really appreciate what they have done for you."

"And there is another class of people to whom you owe a debt of gratitude. Your teachers are proud of you, and you in turn should be grateful for their untiring efforts and devotion to your interests."

In passing, the speaker paid glowing tribute to the teaching profession, which, he said, is the most important of all. He deplored the scant recognition given teachers and educators in the United States, but expressed hope that the day would soon come when the work of the school teacher would be fully appreciated by the people as a whole.

Care in Selection
"Most people are very careful in selecting their bankers as custodians of their savings, and they are equally careful in selecting lawyers to handle their business and legal affairs. No such care is taken, however, in selecting persons to whom they are entrusting their most precious possessions—their own sons and daughters," he observed.

"We look up to our bankers and we entertain a well defined respect for our judges and successful business men, but we do not feel that way about the 'school teacher,' often the butt of ridicule."

"I trust that the teachers of Santa Ana are conscious of the dignity of their profession," he remarked.

Touching upon the theme of his address, the speaker told the audience that there is a great number of native born Americans who have failed to appreciate their birthright—that of being citizens and of living in the greatest democracy known to the world.

"It is only after a native American has left the shores of his own country that he begins to realize its real value," he observed. "And it takes a foreign-born citizen, who knows the difference by personal experience, to teach the native-born American the value of his birthright."

"Because of the benefits conferred on every man by the country, it behooves every citizen to live in such way as to make himself an asset to his community, making a practice of asking himself ever so often, 'What Am I Worth to My Country?'"

A WORD OF COMFORT
Depression and pessimism will enthrall you no matter where you go, unless your spirit is enlivened by prayer.

What you have suffered is the common lot of every human being. Feel that you have loved more deeply than others. No one else has found a source of strength which did not fail them, nor will you.

Reach out for the God with whom your dear departed ones are living. Bury your soul to Him, asking for guidance, strength, and, and for prayer to be true. They will come.

The Cheerful Cherub

When'er I'm in revolving doors
Behind a fat and pompous man
Why am I moved to spin around
As fast and

TRUCK DRIVER
MODERN ROMEO
WITH FLIVVER

Harry Speiner, young Uplands truck driver, whose application for marriage license was recently stated that he was "born in the country" has been covering a considerable stretch of said country since his arrest and subsequent release here, it was learned today.

Harry came here with Edith Perry, 15, of Uplands, who gave her age as 18 and her residence as Los Angeles. They asked for a marriage license and got a deputy sheriff, who had been warned to be on the lookout for them. In filling out the license application blank, before the deputy noticed him, Harry encountered the question regarding his birth (state or country). "Born in the country" was his answer.

Edith's Mamma Steps In
Mrs. E. A. Perry, mother of Edith, had caused the couple's detention by the sheriff's office. Harry was jailed on a charge of child stealing, and the girl was sent home, where Mrs. Perry used approved police methods and chained her own wrist to that of her daughter. Then, a day or two later, she experienced a change of heart, and decided to permit the marriage. But District Attorney Johnson, of San Bernardino county, would not, although he dropped the charge against Harry. He gave warning that the couple should not wed until Edith's sixteenth birthday, which is next September.

Harry was skeptical. "What man has done, man can do," he quoted, as he placed a ladder against the wall of the Perry domicile several nights later, and escorted Edith from her bedroom window to his waiting flivver. This time they drove toward El Centro.

Jailed At El Centro
The El Centro officials had received the first warning that had stopped the couple in Santa Ana, and were unaware of any change in instructions. So they followed the original orders and clapped Harry into jail as soon as he reached there. When it was discovered that the charge against him had been dropped, Harry was again released.

Dame Misfortune having clung close to his heels from the very first, upon his release by the El Centro authorities, finally decided that he should wait until September, when his promised wife will become legally a girl.

So the nose of his steaming flivver was again turned toward Uplands, where the young Romeo will return for the time being, to the drab existence of truck driver.

PICKWICK MAY
OPERATE FAST
EXPRESS STAGE

Recommendations that the Pickwick stage, now operating a regular half hour schedule between Santa Ana and Los Angeles and way points, establish a special fast express service between this city and Los Angeles, omitting all way points, are under consideration by the local management, it was announced today by D. D. Tompkins, district superintendent, in charge of the Santa Ana branch of the system.

These recommendations will be submitted to the general management of the company within a short time, Tompkins stated, adding that there are reasons to believe that they would be acted upon.

According to Superintendent Tompkins, the new through service would be for the benefit of those having business in the city and to whom the saving of time is an important factor. To begin with, the new service will be limited to a car in the morning, leaving here at 7:30 or 8 o'clock, arriving in Los Angeles one hour and a half later. If the new service proved a success, additional cars to suit the convenience of patrons would be put on, it was explained.

PETER IS DELIVERED

ing the Christians, and as soon as he saw that it pleased the Jews he continued his persecution. What have rulers cared for right and justice so long as they could strengthen their own position?

James Slain First
The first of the Christians to suffer, or at least the most eminent, was James, the brother of John. He was put to death with the sword.

The fate of these two brothers, James and John, the men of intensity whom Jesus named "Boanerges," or "Sons of Thunder," is interesting in the contemplation of the part that Providence, or destiny, plays in human affairs and in the progress of the truth.

Some men fulfill their mission through immediate loss and sacrifice, while others are called to lifelong service.

Can anybody doubt that John or Peter would have been as ready to die as James? Yet Peter was spared for years of work in behalf of the new religion, and John, according to tradition, lived on to a great old age, suffering persecution, but dying a natural death.

Modern critical opinion, it should be said, finds considerable evidence that John suffered early martyrdom like his brother James. Our lesson deals with the miraculous delivery of Peter from prison when, apparently, Herod had marked him for the same fate as James.

The disciples were in prayer for their imprisoned leader when word came that he was at the door. Then Peter told to the amazed disciples the story of his escape, how an angel had come and freed him from his guards, leading him forth.

What Paul Did
The narrative is not without its problems. Paul, in a somewhat similar situation, later on, declined to escape, crying to his jailer, who was about to kill himself, "Do thyself no harm for we are all here."

What would Paul have done under the circumstances of the lesson? Questioning may be unjustified, but none the less one cannot read the narrative without a thought for the two guards, who were acting under others, and whose death was involved in Peter's escape.

The problems of Providence as they relate to life and death, to circumstances and situations, are not simple. In this study of prayer in the early church, and the remarkable deliverance of the lesson, we should guard our minds against the idea that prayer and the answer to it are always associated with safety and deliverance.

Are we to believe that God's power and willingness to help his own were present in the deliverance of Peter, but absent in the death of James? No, we must believe that James in his death fulfilled God's purposes as much as Peter in his escape and in his continued service.

We must believe also that Peter was more concerned about serving God than he was about his personal safety.

It is only in the light of such circumstances that we get the right approach to the whole subject.

TEXT: Acts 12:15-17
Peter therefore was kept in prison; but prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him.
And when Herod would have brought him forth, the same night Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains; and the keepers before the door of the prison.
And, behold, the angel of the Lord came upon him, and a light shined in the prison; and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise up quickly. And his chains fell off from him.
And the angel said unto him, Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals: and so he did. And he saith unto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and follow me.
And he went out, and followed him; and wist not that it was true which was done by the angel; but thought he saw a vision.
When they were past the first and the second ward, they came unto the iron gate that leadeth unto the city, which opened to them of his own accord; and they went out, and passed on through one street; and forthwith the angel departed from him.
And when Peter came to himself, he said, Now I know of a surety that the Lord hath sent his angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the expectation of the people of the Jews.
And when he had considered the thing, he came to the house of Mary the mother of John, whose surname was Mark; where many were gathered together praying.
And as Peter knocked at the door of the gate, a damsel came to hearken, named Rhoda.
And when she knew Peter's voice, she opened not the gate for gladness, but ran in, and told how Peter stood before the gate.
And they said unto her, Thou art mad. But she constantly affirmed that it was even so. Then they said, It is his angel.
But Peter continued knocking; and when they had opened the door, and saw him, they were astonished.
But he, beckoning unto them with the hand to hold their peace, declared unto them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, Go show these things unto James, and to the brethren. And he departed and went into another place.

The ambition of Pilate, which led him to condemn Jesus to death, not because he believed Jesus guilty, but to curry favor with the Jews, constituted an example that was soon followed by another ruler, who was also anxious to retain power by making friends.

King Herod Agrippa I, was the man. He had won imperial favor, and his territories were extended even beyond those of his grandfather, Herod the Great, the king who was ruling when Jesus was born.

SICK 3 YEARS WITHOUT RELIEF

Finally Found Health by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbia, S. C.—"Your medicine has done me so much good that I feel like I owe my life to it. For three years I was sick and was treated by physicians, but they didn't seem to help me any. Then I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got strong enough to do my housework, where before I was hardly able to be up. I have also taken the Vegetable Compound during the Change of Life and it has left me in good health. I recommend it as the best medicine for women in the Change of Life and you can use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. S. A. HOLLEY, R. F. D. No. 4, Columbia, South Carolina.

Why suffer for years with backache, nervousness, painful times and other ailments common to women from early life to middle age, when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will bring relief?

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 200,000 replies were received, and 98 out of every 100 reported they were benefited by its use.

At Smart Party

Varied and vivid in coloring as were the tall spikes of gladioli with which the peacock room of the clubhouse was adorned yesterday, they found their tints and shades repeated and emphasized over and over in the lovely summer gowns worn by the hundred or more guests gathered at the invitation of a hospitable mother and daughter, Mrs. Frederick Fuller and Mrs. Clyde Whitney, to enjoy an afternoon of bridge.

It was a particularly summery scene and the cool interior of the clubhouse was most inviting to the guests. Folding doors to the auditorium were opened, thus creating a cool and shadowy setting for the card tables, while across the foyer, open French doors gave charming vistas of the patio, green and delightful.

Mrs. Fuller in silk lace over orchid satin and with a chain of lovely amethysts, and Mrs. Whitney, radiant in a lace and net lingerie frock over peach color and with a gracefully placed tiara that received their guests who were offered gay little spring talleys from silver plates held by two young matrons, Mrs. Edwin T. McFadden and Mrs. La Mont McFadden, wearing charming frocks of flowered chiffon.

When scores were tallied at the close of the interesting bridge contest, names of winners were announced in the interval between serving the first course of chicken salad and cheese straws and the second of ice cream roll with apricot heart of ice, and most delectable little cakes.

Mrs. Herbert Miller, Mrs. Cal D. Lester and Mrs. Elmer Preston scored first, second and third respectively and were rewarded with beautiful plaques, the artistic work of Mrs. Whitney who also did the beautiful little antique jewel box which offered ample consolation to Mrs. George Richardson, scoring low.

In arranging the tables for serving the refreshments, each was spread with a snowy cloth over the card-table covers and centered with a large rose nut-basket of pink and orchid fluted petals with a single gladiolus bloom, as an added touch of beauty. Candied fresh cherries and iced mints were arranged around the base of the nut cups.

Mrs. Whitney came from her new home in San Bernardino to join her mother in presenting the smart affair and will be joined by Mr. Whitney for an over-Sunday visit at the Fuller home, 2125 North Broadway.

MANY CHANGES IN PISTOL SCORES

With 45 pace officers from Fullerton, Anaheim, Santa Ana and other Orange county cities on the pistol range at Olive yesterday, several upsets and changes of positions in the summary were noted today. Marksmen who have been among the first 10 for weeks, were outshot yesterday.

Possibly the biggest change was made by Chief Claude Rogers, who for weeks has been shooting in seventh and eighth places. He went to second place in yesterday's shoot, with a score of 185 out of the possible 200, crowding F. G. Yoder, state motorcycle officer, who maintained the lead by two points. Yoder has been on top all year.

Jack Coombs, Anaheim police officer, and Chief William Fullerton, together with George Annin, also of Fullerton, appeared in the first 10 yesterday for the first time. "Pat" Hurd, Orange motor "cop" has placed before, and was the only other officer outside of Santa Ana, to place.

Yesterday's honors on the range were as follows:

Possible Score
1. Yoder, state officer...200 187
2. Rogers, Santa Ana...200 185
3. Howard, Santa Ana...200 176
4. Perry, Santa Ana...200 173
5. Wolfe, Santa Ana...200 171
6. Barnhill, Santa Ana...200 169
7. Coombs, Anaheim...200 168

LOCAL BUILDING NOT IN L. A. DEAL

Reports that the H. H. Helbush building, nearing completion at the northwest corner of Main and Fourth streets, was involved in a deal just consummated in Los Angeles between H. H. Helbush and J. V. Giannini, chairman of the board of directors of the Bank of Italy, were denied today by H. H. Helbush Jr., who is in charge of the work on the local structure.

It was reported here that Giannini, in selling a valuable corner in Los Angeles, to Helbush, secured the local property.

"The Santa Ana property had nothing to do with the Los Angeles deal and is still owned by my father," said young Helbush today.

The structure here will be ready for occupancy in about three weeks, it was declared today.

Bride-elect is Feted
Ere Her Departure
For Mexico

When Miss Grace Lee Dickey accepted an invitation for an evening of bridge with Miss Nellie Larson and Miss Bertha Selway at the home of Miss Larson, 814 North Van Ness avenue, she found that elaborate plans had been made for her entertainment in honor of her approaching marriage to Arthur Dorsey Davis, young mining engineer of Chihuahua, Mexico.

The two hostesses had chosen an orchid and yellow color scheme with which tuiled baskets of sweet peas, zinnias, Scotch broom and gladioli blended, the tulle bows in each case, offering contrasting color to the flowers in the basket. Charmingly designed tally cards were in place at the tables where guests found their places for a session of bridge.

Miss Grace Smiley was the fortunate one to score high and receive first honors, which took the form of a lovely hand-painted cognac bottle for her dressing table. Miss Tessie Childers, scoring low, was rewarded with a novelty "weenie stick" as consolation. When the prizes were awarded, Miss Dickey was asked to sit in a large chair and close her eyes. A tray was then placed before her and she found the orchid and yellow tuiled packages it held, were gifts from her assembled friends. Of the lovely, frilly, personal things that every girl loves, and every bride wants in her trousseau.

While card tables were being spread with dainty linens for the two-course supper, Miss Audrey Isbell presented a group of her entertaining musical readings and Miss Nellie Larson, with her musical fingers and clever ideas, gave enjoyable piano selection.

Mrs. E. Larson and Mrs. H. J. Selway, mothers of the two hostesses, aided in all details of the pleasant evening and in the serving of a delectable chicken salad, arranged in water triangles tied with yellow and orchid ribbons. The sweets course offered ice cream, nut-roll in the prevailing tints with delicious little cakes and coffee. Nuts and confections filled daintily tinted baskets and gleaming tapers and bridey place cards added a distinctive touch to the scene.

Miss Dickey is a sister of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Dickey and on Saturday, June 27 will leave Santa Ana for El Paso, Texas, where she will be met by her sister, Mrs. W. J. Eaton and her fiancé, Mr. Davis. The marriage will take place in El Paso and the young people will continue on to Mexico where Mr. Davis is mining engineer with the American Smelting and Refining company in Santa Barbara, Chihuahua.

Pretty Wedding

As sunny as her dreams of the future were the appointments for a charming little party honoring Miss Flora Holt, fiancée of Richard Howland, which Miss Cleo Bowers gave as a pre-nuptial courtesy at the attractive Bowers home, 1520 West Washington street.

For the hostess chose a yellow color scheme for the affair, Scotch broom offering its brilliancy and garlands of yellow from the chandeliers and yellow candles completing the artistic effect.

Miss Nellie Irvine played several numbers very delightfully and appropriate games were introduced. An outstanding feature of the evening was the mock wedding in which Miss Gladys Finuf was blushing bride; Miss Ruth Goodwin, groom; Miss Nellie Irvine, minister, and Miss Bowers, organist. The ceremony was long and impressive and at the close, the bride presented her bouquet to Miss Holt. The assortment of wedding gifts was then presented to the bride and groom as a sort of convenient kitchen articles in wide variety.

Way was led to the dining-room, cheery in its yellow appointments. A snowy wedding bell festooned with yellow, hung directly above the table where a lovely doll bride occupied the central position. In the soft glow of yellow candles, the guests enjoyed a menu of orange ice, heart shaped cakes iced in yellow and white, and orange cake, Miss Bernice Finuf and Mrs. C. A. Bowers assisting the hostess in serving.

Enjoying the hospitality of Miss Bowers were the honoree, Miss Flora Holt, the Misses Irene Blow, May Boaz, Gladys Finuf, Bernice Finuf, Venna Goodwin, Ruth Goodwin, Hazel Salisbury, Cora Holt, Nellie Irvine and the hostesses mother, Mrs. C. A. Bowers.

The wedding of Miss Holt and Mr. Howland will be an event of Sunday afternoon, June 27 at 3 o'clock and will be a home ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Holt, 1505 Bush street.

THIS POLICEMAN IS EMPLOYMENT AGENT

The traffic officer at Fourth and Main streets has a new job, and, with summer here, he has been kept busy during the last several days.

Although his new position is not that of operating an employment agency, it resembles one. It consists of telling high school boys where they can find jobs during the three months of vacation.

"All I have to do here lately is stand on the button and be interviewed by high school boys, who, now that school is out for the summer are seeking some place to work until the fall months," H. E. Holmes, traffic officer, said today.

Holmes asserted that at least 10 boys had interviewed him during the last two days.

Scores of youths, eager to make use of their time out of school, are searching throughout Orange county for jobs, and many are finding them. Some are to drive grocery wagons, during the summer, others will "jerk" soda, or work as clerks in stores.

"To make a little, while the making is good," seems to be the slogan of the high school boys this year, and who would know better where there was a loose job than a police officer, whose business it is to know what's needed on his beat?

But Holmes likes the job, he said, "This is not an employment agency, but I'm always glad to help the boys all I can," he remarked.

SWAN SUES KLINE FOR $25,000 DAMAGE

Frank G. Swan former Huntington Beach newspaperman, and publisher of a newly-established paper at San Jacinto, has filed a $25,000 damage suit against Senator Chester M. Kline, publisher of the San Jacinto Register.

The suit is based on an asserted libelous statement said to have been published in the San Jacinto Register about two weeks ago.

Senator Kline admitted today that he had written and published an article which told of Swan being ousted from the Lions club at Huntington Beach, first as secretary, and then as a member. The article told that Swan's discharge from the Huntington Beach News.

Swan also alleges in his complaint that Kline has declared that Swan misappropriated funds while managing the Register during his tenure at the state legislature in Sacramento.

Swan was discharged from the Register by Kline about two weeks before the article appeared in the paper, it is claimed.

Swan states that his removal from the Register was brought about by Kline because Swan planned to start another newspaper in San Jacinto.

Kline declares that Swan was discharged because, Kline found, upon his return, that Swan had not been working to the interests of the Register.

Swan claims that the Register article was published with the intention of discrediting him with the San Jacinto business men.

Celebration yesterday of her twelfth birthday was made an enjoyable event for little Miss Phyllis Pope, daughter of the F. C. Papes of 409 East Walnut street, and for the dozen young friends who were asked to spend the afternoon with her.

Miss Phyllis was assisted by her sister Virginia in entertaining the merry group and many were the lively games which made the afternoon hours fly. Yellow was chosen as the decorative color and when the youngsters were asked to the dining-room by Mrs. Pope, they found the color repeated in the appointments of the pretty table. Yellow doilies were used, yellow posies blossomed in the center, and far-travels of all, a great birthday cake bore twelve yellow candles. This was cut and served with peach ice cream and nuts and bonbons served in dainty yellow nut-cups.

Farewell Party Ere Alaskan Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. A. Winbiger were hosts at a pleasantly informal little party last night at their hospitable home on East Ninth street, having invited a coterie of close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Wiley to come in and say goodbye ere the Wileys leave tomorrow for a two-months' trip to Vancouver, B. C., and Alaska.

The hours were happily whiled away with bridge, the prize for which was very appropriately won by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nau of Tustin, for after the awards were made, Mr. and Mrs. Nau announced that the day marked their fourteenth wedding anniversary, and they received congratulations from their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Crawford captured the consolation trophy.

The host talked entertainingly of his recent trip abroad and Mrs. Winbiger displayed the many beautiful articles which her husband brought to her from the far lands he had visited.

Delicious refreshments, carrying out a dainty pink and white scheme, were served upon the small tables, which were centered with pink roses. Beautiful flowers of various kinds brightened the living rooms.

ATTRACTIONS AT LOCAL THEATERS

FIVE ACTS ON WALKER'S BILL FOR TOMORROW

Sunday's vaudeville bill at Walker's theater is composed of wire dancing, acrobatic tumbling, comedy, singing, dancing and making movies. One of Hollywood's screen stars will be here in person with his company in a riot of fun and laughter. Fuller Clark and company in "Making a Movie Star" is a comedy skit where a movie director is endeavoring to make a movie star out of a young and ignorant boob who does everything backwards but finally makes good to the satisfaction of all. The comedy talk, funny situations and the usual arguments are all presented with the enthusiasm that extends to an audience of boundless applause and incessant laughter is any criterion.

Frank Evers in "Class Plus Versatility" is next on the bill. He presents a Spanish dance on a tight wire, high in the air. He also does some sensational dancing and difficult feats that seem impossible on a thread of steel.

Gibson and Betty in "A Counter Proposal" are said to be a classy combination. Hardy Gibson, the comedian of this duo, is a late star of many musical comedies, while his partner, Florence Betty, is a dainty looking miss with a most pleasing personality.

Charles and Ina McAvoy in "Meeting Sister" are a very clever team. Ina McAvoy is a kid impersonator and not only depicts youth but knows youngsters, and her kid impersonations are a composite of all the kids in the universe. It is a clever bit of characterization. Mr. McAvoy is the foil for all her "kidding" and the result is a continual round of laughter. As the title infers, it is one of those clever interpretive conversational acts that any audience delights in. Songs and dances are detailed at intervals and done artistically.

Freddie Brothers, physical masterpieces, offer one of those acts of which you never get tired. They are marvelous athletes, and will offer a novelty act that will delight young and old. These two exponents of the odd and the difficult will show a prowess seldom seen in a vaudeville offering that does not depend on song and dance to touch the heart of a vaudeville patron.

SUNDAY'S ATTRACTIONS

YOST—Vaudeville (five acts) and "The Hunted Woman," with Seena Owen.

WEST END—"Now or Never," with Harold Lloyd and "Percy," with Charles Ray.

WALKER—Vaudeville (five acts) and "The Beauty Prize," with Eleanor Boardman.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS
WALKER—Vaudeville and "The Beauty Prize," with Viola Dana.
WEST END—"Flattery," with John Bowers.

YOST—Vaudeville and "New Toys," with Richard Barthelmess.

"THE WAY OF A GIRL" AT WALKER'S SUNDAY

Comedy and melodrama, in equal doses, are not supposed to mix, but this theory is forever spiked by "The Way of a Girl," which begins a three-day engagement at Walker's Sunday.

The story is of a girl who spends her life in quest of excitement. Prize fights, and an artists' ball, speeding automobiles, slumming trips—are some of the things she uses to inject a thrill into her life, over the many protests of her devoted but conservative suitor.

Eleanor Boardman plays the girl in fascinating manner, and adds another characterization to her list that should increase her following of fans. It is her first attempt at light comedy on the screen, and she plays it most deftly.

"THE BEAUTY PRIZE" AT WALKER TONIGHT

Viola Dana has scored again. The little star once more proved she is the premier comedienne of the screen when she appeared in her newest picture, "The Beauty Prize," last night at the Walker's theater. This delightful human interest film was made from the Saturday Evening Post story of the same name by Nina Wilcox Putnam, and gave Miss Dana one of the best vehicles she has had in a long, long time.

Last night's audience was pleased, not only with Miss Dana, but also with the beauty contest, which showed how the winner of the national title, "Miss America," is selected. It seemed as if the Metro-Goldwyn company must have conducted a contest of their own, for more than fifty pretty girls were used, and they added a great deal of attractiveness to the picture.

Eleanor Boardman and Matt Moore in a scene from "The Way of a Girl," picture beginning three-day engagement at Walker's theater Sunday.

HAROLD LLOYD'S LATEST HERE TOMORROW

Vulgar is a word that has never been applied to the comedies of Harold Lloyd, whose popular edition of "Now or Never" opens at the West End theater Sunday along with Charles Ray's "Percy."

Harold Lloyd believes it is not necessary to be vulgar to be funny. In fact, he does not see fun in vulgarity, and, furthermore, he believes there are enough people in the world who think the same to warrant making clean comedies.

That his faith in the wholesome tastes of the public is justified is proven by his marvelous rise to the top of a ladder where the going was not only steep, but crowded. After little more than a year of special two-reel comedy features, Harold Lloyd was recognized as the screen's cleverest and most talented comedian, and since then his success has been monumental.

"THE HUNTED WOMAN" AT YOST SUNDAY

It is estimated that more than 100,000 readers look forward each year to the annual novel by James Oliver Curwood. Now comes the announcement that Curwood's "The Hunted Woman," a dramatic narrative of the great outdoors, done in that author's rugged style, will be shown in pictures at the Yost Sunday and Monday. Here is a romance of adventure in the northern wilderness that carries with it a distinctive note of tenderness, which stands out against the contrasting background of primitive men in nature's woodlands.

"The Hunted Woman" beats high and strong with the virile pulse of a gripping love story. It moves with ever quickening rhythm to a climax pitch.

novelty showing the Indian as he once was and is today.

The Temple Trio, "Kings of Harmony" complete the bill.

BARTHELMESS PICTURE IS FAMILY AFFAIR

Richard Barthelmess' new comedy, "New Toys," which closes at the Yost tonight, is distinctly a family picture in more senses than one. It is, first of all, a domestic comedy, relating the tribulations and tragedies of the first two or three years of married life. The action revolves around a young married couple.

"FLATTERY" CLOSING RUN HERE TONIGHT

Lovers of clean drama are finding rare enjoyment in "Flattery," which closes at the West End tonight.

The author of "Flattery," H. H. Van Loan, is probably the screen's most prolific writer, and has contributed such big photodramas as "The Virgin of Stamboul," "The New Moon," "Fightin' Mad," "The Great Redeemer" and "Nellie and Beautiful Cloak Model."

Secretary of State Commission Gives Statement On Financial Situation

MAINTENANCE AND NEW CONSTRUCTION

California Board Expects To Carry on Progressive Building in Biennium

After careful analysis of the accounts of the department and a reasonable estimate of funds from gas and motor license fees, W. F. Mixon, secretary of the California highway commission, has issued the following as an authentic statement of the financial probabilities for the coming two-year period:

In outlining its construction program for the fiscal years, July 1, 1925 to June 30, 1927, covering the 77th and 78th fiscal years, the California highway commission lays particular stress upon that provision of law effective by Assembly bill No. 539, which was signed by Governor Richardson, and which requires maintenance of all travelable roads now in the system on which no work has been done. Approximately 1240 miles of highway are affected by this new law.

Thus, for a reasonable expenditure from the maintenance fund, which is raised by the two-cent gas tax, these roads will be well improved and, in many cases in a few years, be built to satisfactory standards, and during this process will afford easy and comfortable accommodation to the traveling public. With this mileage removed from consideration for new construction, the funds available for such construction will be concentrated on the more important portions of main line and interstate connecting roads, affording relief from the demands for construction on the less important roads.

New Law Called Equitable
The new law is wise and equitable and should have the indorsement of all who are interested in the proper development of the highway system.

The commission expects to carry on a progressive plan of reconstruction and maintenance during the biennium. With approximately $11,000,000 a year for these purposes, a well developed program can and will be carried out. Of this sum available for reconstruction and maintenance, approximately $7,500,000 will come from the 2-cent gas tax and $3,500,000 from the motor vehicle license fees.

The engineering department is prepared to take up the various projects over the state where the reconstruction needs are most pressing, and from time to time contracts will be awarded and the

WHOS WHO in MOTORDOM

B.J. MACMULLEN.

With a record of 18 years in the automobile business, B. J. MacMullen, until recently general manager for O. A. Haley, has taken over the local agency for the Chevrolet motor cars. MacMullen is a native of New York state. He entered the shop and service end of the automobile business in New York City in 1907.

Following that, he was the Pacific coast representative for one of the best known automobile manufacturers for six years. For four years following, he was sales manager and director of service for the Chevrolet Motor company, of Michigan, located at Flint.

Upon coming to this city about a year ago, MacMullen took the position with O. A. Haley Inc. A month ago he took over the Chevrolet agency, located at the corner of Fifth and Ross streets.

In addition to his sales rooms, he has a large service department devoted exclusively to Chevrolet motor cars. MacMullen's motto is courtesy and service and he puts service before sales.

Since he has taken over this agency, the service department has had an increase of 125 per cent in output of business. MacMullen has more than $3000 worth of new equipment and has the largest stock of repair parts for Chevrolets between Los Angeles and San Diego. At the present time, he has 17 on his payroll and says that he will soon have more employees, as business is on the increase. He is very optimistic concerning the revival of general business.

Fraternally, MacMullen is a Mason and an Elk. His favorite outdoor recreation is golf. MacMullen intends to make this city his home and is an ardent booster for Santa Ana and Orange county.

TO OPEN BIDS FOR REPAVING NEW CAR EACH OF STATE ROAD YEAR STOPPED

Improvement of Highway to San Diego Included in Plans of Commission

That the state highway commission is planning extensive improvements south of San Onofre on the state highway to San Diego, was revealed here today by receipt of advices from the touring department of the National Automobile club, that the commission will open bids in Sacramento July 6, for repaving of 13.45 miles of the roadbed.

This work is exclusive of the two bridges to be erected across San Mateo and San Onofre creeks and repaving and straightening work incidental to the bridge construction.

The work for which bids will be opened on July 6 includes a "second story" concrete pavement and flush concrete shoulders for the widening of the present highway from 15 to 20 feet. The section to be improved extends virtually from Oceanside to a connection at the point where the reconstruction work is in progress at the two creek crossings.

The rebuilding program at San Onofre and San Mateo is an important step in elimination of two dangerous points. Sharp turns at the end of bluffs at each of the points have made the places dangerous, and a number of fatal accidents have occurred, particularly at San Mateo, a few hundred feet south of the Orange county line.

The highway between San Onofre, in some sections, is badly "shot." Rebuilding and widening will make the roadway safer and will add to the comfort of passengers in vehicles passing over the route.

—Save the Band— TAKES POSITION WITH HALL STAFF

Frank Hammet, well known local automobile salesman, today had assumed the position of sales manager for Hall Motors, local distributor for the Rickenbacker and Marmon.

Announcement that Hammet had taken the position was one of the surprises of the week on automobile row.

Hammet has been with the Cadillac Garage company for eight years and prior to that was with the local Ford agency for three years.

"The opportunity to become director of sales in Orange county for the Marmon and for the Rickenbacker in the south half of the county came to me as a surprise," Hammet said. "I am happy to have the position, for I recognize in the two lines good automobile merchandise, and believe that I can assist my organization in putting both cars over big here."

PRODUCTION OF NEW CAR EACH YEAR STOPPED

Studebaker Company Announces Definite Style Changes Not to Be Made

According to Potter Bowles, president and manager of the Bowles Motor company, Studebaker dealer, the Studebaker corporation today announced definitely that it would discontinue the custom of presenting a new line of automobiles each year.

"Why should a motor car company deliberately knock 40 per cent of the value off the cars its customers bought in good faith, with an annual announcement of new models," Bowles said.

"Instead of bringing Studebaker cars dramatically up-to-date once in 12 months, the company proposes to keep them up-to-date all the time, adding improvements from time to time as the merit of such betterments is proved to the satisfaction of Studebaker's engineering department, which is maintained at a cost of half million dollars annually.

Studebaker believes that this policy benefits present Studebaker owners. It is also the belief of the concern that the policy of no yearly models enables purchasers of new cars to obtain models that are always modern, without the necessity of waiting for annual changes and without the danger of their new cars becoming obsolete.

"The dramatic success of the present line of Studebaker cars is one reason for this important change. During the first five months of 1925, Studebaker dealers delivered 40 per cent more cars to buyers than during the same period in 1924. On May 31, the end of the period referred to, Studebaker dealers had only half as many cars in stock as on the same date last year."

—Save the Band— 'I SELL 'EM' IS LOVERIDGE SLOGAN

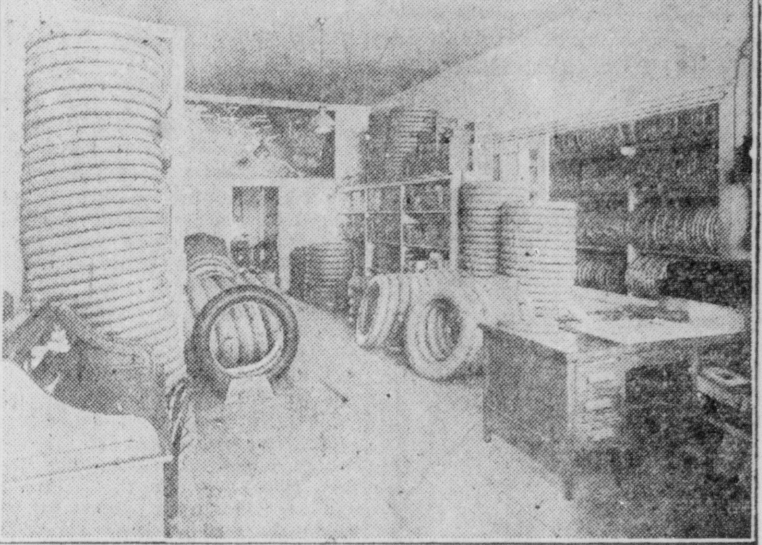

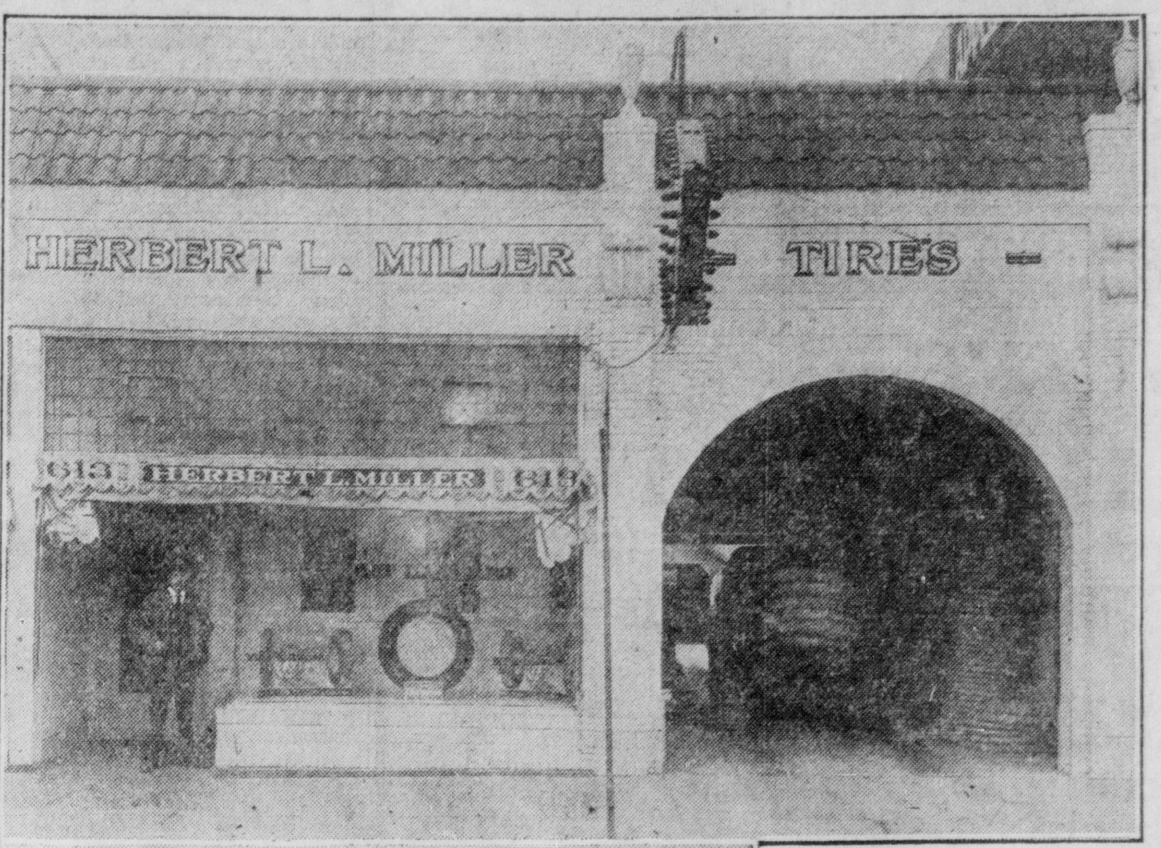

"I sell 'em."

With this as his slogan, and with the slogan displayed prominently on the cover of the spare tire he carries on his machine, Don Loveridge today was circulating among his friends as an Essex and Hudson salesman for the R. W. Townsend company, Hudson-Exsco dealer.

Loveridge formerly was owner of the Rossmore hotel, and for the last two years has been living in Pasadena. With his wife and 5-week-old daughter, Donna Lou, Loveridge has located at 1015 West Fourth street, and declares he has returned to Santa Ana to remain.

"Santa Ana is a fine city, and I am glad to be back again," the former hotel man said. "I have come to Santa Ana to sell Essex and Hudson automobiles, because I know the lines offer the biggest value ever in automobiles. I am not going to 'try' to sell them—I am going to sell them."

ESTABLISHMENT OF HERBERT L. MILLER, COUNTY DISTRIBUTOR OF DIAMOND TIRES

Upper—The tire "home" of Herbert L. Miller, 613 West Fourth street, county distributor for Diamond tires, where a stock of tubes and tires ranging in value from $15,000 to $20,000 is carried constantly. Miller is standing in the door. On the right is the entrance to the service shop.

Lower—View of the stock room and office. Stock is delivered from this point to the 45 dealers throughout the county.

*Miller Distributes Average Of Carload of Diamond Tires Monthly

Distributing an average of one carload of Diamond tires and tubes during each month since January 1, Herb L. Miller, county distributor for the Diamond product, today declared that his business for the period was 50 per cent better than for the same months of last year.

"The increase in the volume of business is due partly to better times and partly to the fact that motorists have come to recognize the value and the service offered by Diamonds," Miller said. Forty-five dealers in the county are helping the local man to put Diamonds on automobiles.

Miller started his enterprise here in 1921, and does both a retail and wholesale business, proportioned 80 per cent to wholesale and 20 per cent to retail. His stock come direct from the factory at Akron, receiving once a month in carload lots, insures fresh stock at all times, Miller pointed out.

Declaring that tire prices are constantly increasing, because of a shortage in crude rubber and resultant high costs of the products, the distributor said tire costs are about 200 per cent lower than they were in 1920. At the same time, he declared that present tires of the factory he represents return 300 per cent more mileage than they did five years ago. While the factory makes no guarantee as to mileage, Miller does give a personal guarantee—and the personal touch and the personal guarantee are features that have assisted in developing the business to its proportions of today.

Miller also maintains a high class tire service, referring to his patrons a prompt and satisfactory service.

James Mahoney, who was in research and sales work with the Diamond company for 12 years, recently assumed the position of salesmanager for Miller.

NEW AJAX AROUSES MUCH ENTHUSIASM

The first showing to the Chicago public on Sunday, June 7, of the Ajax Six will go down in motor car history as one of the most impressive receptions ever accorded a new motor car, according to W. C. May, of the May Motor company, local Ajax dealer.

"Honored as the first city in the United States to view the new Nash-built product, Chicago turned out in force and crowded the showrooms of the Chicago-Ajax company from early in the morning until past midnight, with thousands of people who had eagerly awaited the arrival of the car," May said. "A careful check of all those who entered the showrooms on the opening day revealed that a total of 3725 persons inspected the car."

Known to be a Nash-built car the Ajax may well be said to have been born famous, and no small share of the eagerness over its arrival is due to the manufacturing record of C. W. Nash, Ajax president. Comment was unanimous that the Ajax six is a distinctly new contribution to the motor car industry, both in point of its unique body design and its exceptional engineering features."

PETER DEPAULO SELECTS BUICK FOR PLEASURE

Robert E. Reid, president of the Reid Motor company, local Buick dealer, today expressed pride in the fact that Peter DePaola, youthful winner of the Memorial day 500-mile automobile race, in Indianapolis, had purchased a Buick car.

According to Reid, DePaola's story as to why he decided to buy a Buick is a novel one.

"While he was preparing for the big race he gained the friendship of Bill Alexander, of the Marvel Carburetor company, who was at the speedway in the interests of his company," Reid said.

"Alexander had a Buick fifty-five, and during the week previous to the race used it to tow the racing car from his garage to the speedway for practice spins. DePaola took such a liking to Bill's valve-in-the-head Buick that when he won his laurels together with the $38,000 in prize money, he decided to buy one like it."

"On the last night before the 500-mile grind, someone backed another large car up to the garage to tow the DePaola car to the track, but DePaola would have none of it. 'Where is Bill and his Buick?' he asked. 'I'll not allow anyone else to tow my car at this stage of the game. I don't want to be jinxed by changing tow-horses in the middle of the stream.'"

NOTED MOTOR BIKE RACERS TO TAKE PART IN HILL CLIMB

Annual Cycle Event to Be Held Sunday, June 28, On Laguna Canyon Side

AFFAIR SPONSORED BY COUNTY CLUB

New Course Has Grade of 80 Per Cent at Steepest Point; Room for Parking

Some of the famous motorcycle racers of the state and nation will participate in the program of the annual hill climb, to be held Sunday, June 28, in Laguna canyon, it was declared today by Everett R. Skaggs, president of the Orange County Motorcycle club, which is promoting the big classic.

Entries already made disclose that many stars of former contests held at the San Juan Capistrano hill will be among those who will start their mounts up the stiff grade of the hill in Laguna canyon that has been selected as the site for the future annual hill climbs of the club.

Riders Already Signed

Among those already signed for appearance here are Dud Perkins, of San Francisco, several times winner of the free-for-all at Capistrano; Malcolm Ord, Long Beach; "Spots" Elders, Fresno; George Faulders, Oakland, and Noel McIntyre, San Diego. Other riders of note are expected to enter before entries close.

There will be four events, and those who have attended past climbs know that the number is enough to fill an entire afternoon. The card will start promptly at 12 m., and the events will be run as fast as possible.

The location of the new site is about one mile from Laguna Beach. Ample ground has been secured for parking automobiles of the 40,000 or 50,000 persons who are expected to be present. The event is nationally known and many motorists travel from distant parts of California, and adjoining states in order to witness the climb.

Grade of 80 Per Cent

At its steepest point, the new course has an 80 per cent grade, according to Skaggs. The coming contest on the new course promises a repetition of some of the old-time thrills—some of the thrills of the type that featured the first years of the meet at the Capistrano hill.

The Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce, Skidmore brothers and business men of Laguna are co-operating with the club officials. There will be no charge for parking of automobiles, but a collection will be taken to help the club defray some of its expenses.

Clyde Ailing, of the Cherry Blossom, again has secured concessions for refreshments and lunch counters.

Schedule of Events

The motorcycle events will be as follows:

First—For novices with machines of 80 cubic inches or less displacement.

Answer: Because the correctness of Buick design and the quality of Buick manufacture are not altered by use. A used Buick is a better investment than many new cars of other makes.

Dr. C. D. Ball Amplifies His Argument Against the Water Bonds

Editor Register: Fully appreciating the value of the Register's Forum, may I presume to add a few words to my article of recent date?

Before proceeding, I wish to call attention to a blunder that appeared in that article. The daily consumption of water in Santa Ana is about five million gallons, not five thousand gallons; the other figures and deductions were correct.

To my question, "Then what?" and to my request to the city council for a public discussion, the aforesaid council remains silent, the city superintendent of our water department, the city engineer and Mr. Chapman, presumably speaking for the council, have said not a word to clear up the haze that befores the future water supply of Santa Ana. The city council has no intention of calling a mass meeting for a public discussion, then I am compelled to answer my own question, "Then what?"

It is admitted by all that, whether we pump at Chapman street or Santa Ana, we are pumping from the same pool and that we are not getting a pint more water at Chapman street than we would get at Santa Ana.

Mr. Lippincott tells us that in time we must procure more water. Assuming that the water bonds carry and Mr. Lippincott's scheme is developed as planned, "Then what?" An empty water reservoir, litigation and politics.

Gentlemen, this is too serious a matter to ignore. Litigation is already begun. Was it necessary? Orange did not think so, for a few thousand dollars—less than $4000—she purchased her experimental pumping site. (Wise little Orange, she avoids litigation and entangling alliances with Santa Ana.) Not so, Santa Ana, she rushes into 17 condemnation suits, employs an expensive consultant to manage the legal end, notwithstanding the fact that we have an able city attorney, elected by the people. Are we to duplicate the senseless San Diego water fight that is consuming the time of our local court this very day?

To digress a moment, will someone tell us how much Mr. Bishop is to be paid as a consultant? Will someone also tell us about what Mr. Lippincott is to receive—bonds, lose, or win? This information cannot be obtained at the city hall, where everything is "Queen Sabé?" Mr. Lippincott publicly stated as a Kiwanis luncheon that he had a contract with Santa Ana. Was that contract verbal or in writing? What is the nature of it, please?

The danger from litigation is far less than that from politics. It is had enough to have our sewers managed by outsiders. (What about the $150,000 that we must dig up immediately for outfall sewer?) but it is far worse to be solely dependent, or nearly so, upon the county for water.

We can expect nothing from county conservation without bond elections. What will the farmers do, when thoroughly exasperated by our war upon them, should we ask them to help us out of our dilemma?

I find myself unable to answer my own question. Reservoir empty, county bonds defeated, the Colorado 20 years away—then what?

May I suggest? Avoid trouble with the farmers, claim our riparian rights, work with the farmers, take our just apportionment of the water under the riparian rights, and if more water is needed look for it elsewhere.

C. D. BALL.

Former City Engineer W. G. Knox Presents His Views On Proposed Water Bonds

Editor Register:—I respectfully request that this article be published in your valuable paper for the benefit of those who are to be called on to vote on a bond issue of $1,200,000 for the purpose of what is termed by Mr. Lippincott, consulting engineer, as an adequate water supply for the city of Santa Ana.

I want to say in the beginning of this article, with all due respect to the board of trustees, whom I served with many pleasant memories as their city engineer for three years, that I certainly am in favor of an adequate water supply for Santa Ana, but am very much opposed to a temporary measure, such as I feel has been suggested by our consulting engineer. We must not lose sight of the fact that it is just as necessary for this city to get the proper location for such supply as it is for the immediate use of the water, and I know for a fact that the attitude of the board of trustees, when the matter was first brought up, was to secure reservoir sites somewhere in the Santa Ana canyon before such sites were acquired by others. Mr. Lippincott, now recommends to our trustees an identical source pumped from wells such as we now have, and in the meantime we are not protected in any manner whatsoever from being cut off from the Santa Ana river watershed or the impounding of water which is carried away into the Pacific ocean, nor are we acquiring sites of any kind whatsoever that could not be done at any time by condemning such, as is being done at this time.

I have given Mr. Lippincott's report a very thorough and careful study, as an engineer would do with another's report, and have tried to see it as he has. But in view of the fact that he has established in his report the fact that our water table is being lowered noticeably each year and that this condition actually exists here in Orange county, I sincerely feel that we are and will be making the most criminal mistake that could possibly be made in supporting such an issue.

Mr. Lippincott, I fear, would be greatly disturbed should it be suggested in any form that Los Angeles sink wells for a water supply. Nothing short of the Colorado river would be considered; and that is our ultimate source, together with the conservation of water in the Santa Ana canyon; and the control of the Santa Ana river, which is a menace to property in Orange county and Santa Ana, is imperative. I happen to know positively, as I stated before, that our city trustees had this in mind in securing an adequate water supply for the city of Santa Ana. We all know, whether engineers or not, that to depend on wells for an adequate water supply is a sad failure.

Mr. Lippincott is heartily in favor of the Colorado river being brought in as a source of supply and is working to this end, and no one realizes more than he how necessary it is to have the support of Orange county and Santa Ana. With an adequate water supply established in Orange county; and without the support of Orange county and developing of the Colorado river would mean an absolute failure to Los Angeles to finance a loan.

If it is impossible to secure an independent water system such as it necessary to make us independent and a supply sufficient to support a city from the water sheds which are available, then it is necessary to co-operate with the development of the Boulder dam, and at that time spend our money in the construction of reservoirs that will be in conformity with what is done at that time.

Mr. Lippincott states that the reservoir as now located will in all probability be in accord with the system which may be developed later. I positively know that there has been nothing done in the way of surveys in our immediate vicinity to determine what system will be used in distributing to the various towns, and I conscientiously feel that we are not protected sufficiently to proceed to construct a system and expect Colorado river authorities to conform to our plans.

The city of Santa Ana has some 10 wells in the incorporate limits of Santa Ana with a storage capacity of approximately two days' supply and is dependent on a force pump, pumping direct into the distributing mains for pressure throughout the city, and the policy has been heretofore when more water is needed more wells are sunk and pumps installed. This condition will not be changed a particle in establishing another well supply, however, the storage capacity of the new system will be approximately five times greater, yet we depend entirely on a booster pump at a constant cost to supply our reservoir.

Now the question which we are confronted with is just simply this: Can the city of Santa Ana afford to spend this amount of money for the extra three-fourths storage supply and the drilling of new wells in our immediate vicinity in the very face of the fact that the Colorado river water will be and should be developed, and in which we will be compelled to assist for an adequate water supply for the city of Santa Ana, such as is necessary to put us on a competitive basis with other cities in California?

I conscientiously feel that this will be done and that the city of Santa Ana will not be justified in abandoning our wells at this time. Sink another well or two if necessary and install a stand by booster pump for the present, and build to conform to what we know will be practical for the future development.

My first thought of the developing of water in this manner impressed me as being about the only thing that could be done at this time. However, on going into the details more thoroughly and realizing more clearly how unprotected the city of Santa Ana is by such improvement has caused me to express myself as an engineer who has had considerable experience in municipal water conservation to make the statements as herein submitted.

I trust that this statement will not be misconstrued in any way or leave the impression that I am not progressive by not approving of this system as outlined and suggested by Mr. Lippincott.

In being progressive we must not lose sight of the fact that the growth of Santa Ana will be limited almost entirely to its source of water supply.

My interest in Santa Ana and the men whom we have seen fit to elect to direct our city affairs—and whom I believe are sincere in their undertaking to supply Santa Ana with an adequate water system—lead me to trust most sincerely that their efforts and accomplishments will be such that the results will be a monument and a credit to them rather than be considered a failure later.

W. G. KNOX,
Civil Engineer.

Hard to Build But Easy to Own

Eight cylinder engines, by and large, are easy enough to produce; but a Cadillac V-type Eight is something entirely different and apart.

Bear this in mind, for it is the root and center of the whole question of motor car performance and value. Cadillac never has, and never will, substitute the fetish of mechanical simplicity for the actuality of operating simplicity.

Cadillac engineers are not thinking only in terms of mechanical data, but they are thinking in terms of human service—so that the Cadillac V-type Eight is not a mere blue print of simplicity—it is a pleasant, comfortable, trouble-free servant of man.

Beautiful—is the word which will come spontaneously to your lips when first you gaze upon this new Coach-Brougham now announced and ready for delivery.

Rickenbacker was (and still is) first to offer a 4-door Coach-Brougham.

This model has been a tremendous success.

Demand has been overwhelming.

Fundamentally this Rickenbacker idea was right—unanimous acclaim proved that.

Now comes the new model, which in all respects is the same—but refined, perfected.

Here is a Coach-Brougham which is truly beautiful.

Here is a triumph in body design.

Here is beauty of line—the effect of a custom-built body at a price made possible only by volume production.

Here is an achievement in coach craft—here is art combined with science.

Here is luxury at an amazingly low price.

Mounted on that identical "Six" chassis with which "Cannon Ball" Baker has made so many trans-continental and cross-country records during the past six months, this new Rickenbacker is amazing in performance.

And now, it is as beautiful to look upon as it is wonderful in action.

Possesses all the Rickenbacker features, of course—those features which the Rickenbacker incorporates today, which are two years at least in advance.

Tandem fly wheels; double depth frame; "cradle springs"; air cleaner; dilution eliminator; ball bearing steering; balloon tires and 4-wheel brakes.

Here is the most advanced car of its time—both as to chassis and body.

See this new 4-door Coach-Brougham.

It's a rare example of harmonious contrasts—each line seems to complement each curve.

"Beautiful!"—the one word expresses it all.

HIGHWAY CASH PROBABILITIES ARE LISTED

work pushed to completion. Motorists will recall many evidences of the reconstruction program in evidence over the state, and will, no doubt, recognize the improved condition of the maintained roads.

Cash For Reconstruction

For new construction, the highway commission will also have a tidy sum to spend during the biennium. Cash on hand July 1 of this year will approximate $2,300,000, previous federal aid allotments yet uncollected stand at $4,200,000, additional or new federal aid becomes available on July 1 of this year in the sum of approximately $4,900,000, a total of $11,400,000 to be available for new construction. New construction contracts are already in force in the sum of $3,200,000, leaving $8,200,000 available for further new construction up to June 30, 1927.

With the provision of Assembly bill No. 589, relative to maintenance, carried into effect, the possibility exists of concentrating this sum of money on the primary roads and a real program of new construction is not only possible, but assured during the biennium.

Gas Tax Assesses

It is necessary in estimating the receipt of gas and motor vehicle funds, to project into the future. No person can absolutely determine the amount which will be collected, but the experts in the engineering department of the commission have gone very carefully into the matter and the commission believes that from the data at hand there will be for expenditure the sum set out below.

2-cent gas tax due in November, 1925 $ 4,000,000

Gas tax for the year 1926 7,800,000

May 1 payment for 1927 3,674,000

Total $15,474,000

There will be cash on hand as of July 1, 1925, $2,300,000. Good business dictates that this cash balance should also be a reserve balance as of July 1, 1926 and of July 1, 1927, and on from time to time during the biennium periods.

The real amount, therefore, for reconstruction and maintenance from this particular fund would be $15,474,000.

Computations made as carefully as is possible indicate that there will be collected from this source:

For the year 1925 $3,450,000

For 1926 3,750,000

Total $7,200,000

This money also becomes available for reconstruction and maintenance. This sum, in addition to $15,474,000, results in a grand total of $22,674,000 for reconstruction and maintenance during the biennium. Of this, approximately $6,000,000 is now under work orders for maintenance and other expenditures during the year 1925.

The totals quoted above show that for all purposes of highway work there will be a total of $34,074,000 available during the 77th and 78 fiscal years, of which sum there is now under contract and work orders $9,225,000.

From these figures, it is apparent that there will be available for highway work of all kinds $24,849,000 in addition to sums allocated to work now authorized.

LONG BEACH—A comprehensive and far-reaching plan to extol the merits of Long Beach as a city in which to live, and the expenditure of $50,000 in the carrying out of the plan, was given the endorsement here of the Long Beach chamber of commerce. The plan has been worked out by a committee composed of members of the city council, Apartment-house Owners' association, bankers, newspaper staffs and others. Special stress will be laid in the publicity matter on the desirability of Long Beach as an industrial center and the advantages of this city's rapidly developing harbor. A part of the plan provides for the opening of a Long Beach head quarters in Los Angeles in charge of experienced men and women. Advertising space in Los Angeles and other newspapers and billboard space throughout Southern California will be taken under the plan, and invitations will be extended to convention bodies to meet here, it was said.

SANTA MONICA—So that the Bay District might boast the longest and closest stretch of beach on the Pacific coast, which will extend from Point Duma, 15 miles north of this city on the north and as far as two miles below Del Rey on the south, engineers and officials are now dealing with an outfall sewage question that will eliminate the dumping of all refuse between the points named. The city of Venice more than a year ago made a contract with Los Angeles after a heated court battle which allowed her to connect with the Angel City's new outfall at Hyperion. This city is now entering into a friendly agreement to dispose of sewage by connecting with the Venice main for which bonds have been voted.

MANY ADVANTAGES IN NEW REO COUPE

According to Joe Finley, manager of the Reo Sales and Service company, local Reo dealer, no item of advanced 1925 motor car modishness is missing from the new Series G coupe, recently announced by the Reo Motor Car company as an addition to its group of passenger cars.

"Lines, colors, appointments and equipment are up-to-the-minute reflections of the newest ideas in automobile building, and the body is mounted on the standard Reo passenger car chassis, with its six cylinder, 50-horsepower engine, inner frame mounting of vital units and exclusive safety control," Finley said.

"The new Reo coupe owes no small share of the credit for its attractive appearance to the non-collapsible landau type top and to the pleasing two-tone color arrangement," he declares.

Five adult passengers are accommodated in genuine comfort. Dodge Brothers standard power plant, chassis and underslung spring equipment are Coach features. Observation of the finish, fittings and design will reveal no departure from Dodge Brothers most exacting practice in these departments.

UNIQUE REQUESTS MADE OF STATIONS

CINCINNATI, O., June 20.—Radio has forced broadcasting stations to become a combined information, first aid and general utility service.

The variety of requests sent to any station tells this.

One of the most freakish collections of unique requests is exhibited by station WKRC here. They cover a general range from calling for a child specialist to seeking a recipe for home brew.

"Most of the freak requests that come in are of the type usually experienced by every broadcasting station," says Clarence E. Ogden, owner of the station.

"Every studio director has received requests for announcing missing sons or daughters, lost or husbands; deaths, weddings, lost or found merchandise; the dates on which church fetes or bazaars, picnics or dances will be given by the Young Ladies' Group of Such-and-Such church.

"Any number of telephone calls are received every night wanting to know who won the last race at Laurel, Tia Juana or Latonia; whether New York took the last game from Chicago, how the stock market was at closing or any number of other items which they could read in their daily newspapers.

"The best letters, and one that we are keeping, came from an old Kentucky mountaineer who operated a one-tube set. It seemed as though he was quite a fiddler, for no one living within miles of him had a piano or any other musical instrument, and his fiddle was out of tune.

"Anyway, this old Kentuckian wanted to tune his fiddle and he requested that on the night mentioned we have Miss Yella LeMarr, WKRC's musical director, promptly at 9 o'clock, strike 'G' on the piano, repeating it at intervals for five minutes. Thus, the fiddle could be properly tuned.

"We mailed him a tuning fork the next day.

"One request for us to play a wedding march came from another little town in Kentucky and we did it. We have requests for recipes for cooking and home brew, how to take grass stains out of white pants, cures for sun burn and others too numerous to mention.

RADIO WITH SHRINERS
Shriners from Chicago going to their Los Angeles convention were accompanied by radio concerts throughout their voyage. Three special trains had radio receiving equipment, while station WHT in Chicago kept the Shriners in good humor all the way.

On Two Waves

Radio fans who have been tuning in to the half-hour talks of Burr McIntosh, famous actor and humorist, have been so insistent for continuance of his feature that station WAHG, of Richmond Hill, N. Y., has decided to broadcast it on two wavelengths. WAHG hereafter will send the talk out on 316 meters, and at the same time its new low-wavelength equipment will be used to broadcast the talk to owners of low-wavelength receivers.

Keen Super-hets Watch Rum Row

Lieutenant E. M. Webster, in charge of communications of the U. S. Coast Guard Service, operating a receiver built especially for rum row work.

NEW YORK, June 20. — Highly selective, especially constructed super-heterodyne receivers and low wave transmitters, keep rum row under control.

This apparatus is being used on the 75-foot rum chasers of the U. S. coast guard service, for secret communication and for the detection of any messages broadcast from the rum fleet. It has been designed for this sole purpose by the Bell Research Laboratories.

Both voice and code can be sent and received through these instruments. The transmitter can operate on wavelengths between 100 and 200 meters. In practice, however, it is fixed for one wavelength.

The receiver also is locked to receive messages on the same wavelength.

BE CONTENT WITH LOCAL CONCERTS IN SUMMER

By ISRAEL KLEIN
NEA Service Radio Editor

Radio fans who yearn to cover distance, even in summer, should do it by auto, or train, not by radio.

Distance is not in the category of summer radio activities. Attempts at getting DX merely result in the cracking of static to such an extent as to make life miserable for those who are forced to listen in.

Radio receivers are effective, but not enough to bring in programs from stations across the continent, or even 500 miles away, to the exclusion of atmospheric noises. Even the finest receiver in creation can't do this.

During the summer at least, the crystal set is practically as good as the super-het, in so far as clarity of signals from nearby stations are concerned. Of course, there's the advantage of getting your local concerts on the loud speaker, but clarity is the same.

Little Mileage
Perhaps the larger set may be able to tune in one or two more stations within 100 miles or so, without feeling much disturbance by static. But that's almost unnecessary with the wide distribution and variety of stations in the country.

At any rate, the large set runs the risk of breaking into an important announcement or a particularly sweet selection with a sudden crack or roar from the air, if the station tuned in is any distance away.

Smaller receivers are more immune from static than are the larger type because static going through a receiver is amplified in the same proportion as is any radio signal. The bigger and better the set, the more liable is it to bring in static from afar.

Reduce Tubes
Since five or more tubes are unnecessary to enjoy a local concert on the loud speaker, these may be reduced for local reception, if facilities have been provided. The loud speaker may be plugged into the phone jack, and the last tube or two shut off completely.

Short Cuts

Things to Know in Building and Operating a Receiver

Or, if there is no intermediate jack, usually the second radio frequency stage can be loosened and the set used for reception through only four tubes. All that needs be done in such event, so far as many five-tube radio-audio frequency sets are concerned, is to take out the second radio-frequency tube.

Make your own "logadial" by cutting a circle of Bristol board paper a half inch larger than the dial and gluing it to the back of the dial. With a pen extend the points of the dial just a little and ink in the call letters of the station at the points where they are received.

A fixed crystal detector is easy to make. Find the sensitive spot on the crystal, melt sealing wax and pour it on the crystal, binding the catwhisker to the spot that produces the loud signals. If the first experiment fails, scratch off the wax and try again.

Every fan knows that damp coils make for poor reception, but few know that strong sunlight is the best remedy. Try giving the inards of your set a daily sun bath and watch improvement.

Avoid dials that wobble on the shafts. Before purchasing, spin them on the shaft of a variable condenser to make sure they run true.

Capital Letter
WASHINGTON, June 20.—A big tariff fight looms in the offing. Present customs rates are a lot too high, in the opinion of some mighty powerful interests.

These "interests" are not the kind to sit still and make the best of what they don't like. Desiring tariff revision downward, they mean to try for it.

Every indication is that they will do this at the next session of congress.

The protected "interests," on the other hand, will put up a scrap to prevent it that will make the welkin ring to beat all records. In fact, it may be the big muck in Washington next winter.

Considering how overwhelming the party of protection won the last election, all this may seem queer.

Yet, stopping to think about it, one recalls that there have been hints for quite a while of something simmering.

For instance, when the cotton spinners, in convention here a few weeks ago, suggested a higher tariff wall, why did President Coolidge shut them up with that Aesop story of the dog who, crossing a bridge with a bone in his mouth, saw his reflection in the water, mistook it for another dog, grabbed at the latter's bone and lost his own overboard in doing so.

Then along came "The Magazine of Wall Street" with the prediction that "within 18 months we shall be in the throes of the most sweeping general revision of the tariff we have ever known."

And now we have George B. Lockwood's "National Republic," which speaks for old-line Republicanism if any publication does, calling for "a thorough campaign of education" to prevent such a "national disaster."

The revision movement's inspiration is America's group of big bankers—the ones with huge foreign investments, notably war loans.

"Within a year," according to "The Magazine of Wall Street," "the consuming masses will begin to rally to the standard of our international bankers and against the manufacturers."

The outcome remains to be seen, of course, but one thing is certain, "the interests" referred to by the Wall Street publication aren't to be sneezed at.

If they've set their hearts on tariff reduction, though they may not get it, the ultra-protectionists will know they've been in a first-class row by the time it's ended.

The bankers' idea is easy enough to understand. When President Harding took office and the Republicans had everything their own way, as traditional protectionists their first act was to put the tariff "way up."

There was some talk at the time to the effect that this was going to make it hard for Europe to pay her debts to America—she hadn't the money and the tariff wall would prevent her from paying in goods.

Still, the manufacturers wanted it, the farmers thought they did and the bankers evidently resolved to give it a trial, without kicking much.

Now, however, clearly they've made up their minds that it's failed.

They've received practically no interest, to say nothing of principal, from any of their old world debtors except England, and lately even the British have been intimating that they can't keep it up indefinitely on the present basis.

NEW CONCERN GETS CHRYSLER AGENCY IN S. A.

Coming as a complete surprise on automobile row this week is the passing of the Chrysler agency from the hands of Christian Brothers to the Hancock Motors company which will handle Chrysler sales and service for the Santa Ana territory.

An entirely new organization is being rounded out from Santa Ana men and the personnel will include men thoroughly trained to handle their particular lines of work.

Paul Clark, well known to Santa Ana residents, is general manager of the new concern, and has definite ideas of what the motorist's public expects and is entitled to from an automobile agency. Clark has had years of experience in the automobile business, both from a merchandising standpoint and that of rendering proper service to the owner.

In assuming the Chrysler franchise in Santa Ana," said Clark, "we fully realize the responsibility which rests upon us in representing the popular line of motor cars. We have but one aim to build an organization that will stand out as a leader in the automobile business here. We know this position can only be reached through courteous treatment and fair dealing with the public, and our entire organization will work as a unit to that end. An outstanding feature will be service of the highest efficiency for all of our owners in the territory. I am exceptionally strong in my ideas of giving service to the customer after he has been sold a new car, and I am spending considerable time and money to equip the service department and stock room to a point that will make them among the finest to be found. The personnel will handle our repair and service department, comprising trained Chrysler men, some having come to us direct from the factory.

"With such an organization we will attempt to make service an outstanding feature of this firm and are in a position to take care of every need of our owners no matter how small or how large."

In speaking of the Chrysler car, Clark said: "There is no finer line of automobiles to choose from and motorists will find our display of Chryslers on the floor very interesting. Our stock room and parts department will also be of special interest to prospective motor car buyers, as its completeness is proof of our permanent intention.

"Our sales force is composed of high type men who are going out to get the business. We want every citizen's good will and respect and our entire organization is working as a unit to that end."

The location at 323 East Fourth street is being retained by the new firm and with a few alterations this coming week.

Christian Brothers have made no plans for their future business activities, it was said.

COLORFUL ARE NAMES OF STATE MOTOR OWNERS

Joseph's famed coat of many colors would look like the sober garb of a church going Puritan if placed alongside a similar bit of wearing apparel fashioned from colors represented by names of California automobile owners in the records of the division of motor vehicles.

These records reveal that California may boast not only of colorful scenery but of "colorful" names as well. Exactly 35 colors are represented. A bright array if blocked together into a crazy quilt.

Brown would be the predominating note in such a pattern, for the records show 8372 persons in California bearing that cognomen own automobiles. Next in line are the Whites, with 3600. The greens are third with 2160 and Rosas are fourth, with 1620. The Grays come next, with 1562 and Blacks next, with 1092.

There are 227 Blues, 270 Reds, 150 Lemons, 43 Oranges, 21 Peaches, 17 Pinks, 22 Plums, 90 Rusts, 90 Salmons and 200 Yellows.

There is a sprinkling of other colors as follows: Ash, Brick, Buff, Champagne, Cerise, Copper, Cardinal, Garnet, Gold, Lavender, Maroon, Orchid, Purple, Russet, Sand, Silver, Straw, Vermillion and Violet.

Fiancee's Story Wins Acquittal

WOODBURY, N. J., June 20.—The testimony of a fiancee, resulted in the acquittal here by a jury with a woman foreman of Ervia Dronet, formerly in the crew of the coast guard cutter Kicksapoo, who was charged with implicating in the holdup of the railroad station at Paulsboro, last November.

Smartly attired and attractive, Dronet's sweetheart, Miss Henrietta Ballenger, 22 years old, of Cape May, gave corroboration to Dronet's defense that he was in Cape May at the time of the robbery, and offset positive identification by Lewis K. Steinbach, the station agent.

After the jury had deliberated 45 minutes, the foreman, Mrs. Eleanor Tull, Bridgeport, announced the verdict of "not guilty to Judge Swackhammer, in Gloucester county criminal court."

Friends congratulated both Dronet and his sweetheart, who blushing admitted the exoneration would hasten their marriage, which had been deferred on account of the trial.

Steinbach identified Dronet as one of three men who held him up with pistols, took his watch and chain, then forced him to open the station safe and stole $155 in cash and checks totaling $4,400. The audits escaped after the robbery, at Dronet, who is 24, was taken by the cutter Kicksapoo March 4, for a lengthy investigation by Capt. Tully, of the railroad police.

Dronet, in his defense, made a complete denial of the charge, told of being near his station in Cape May at the time of the theft and called his sweetheart to support his story.

Miss Ballenger said Dronet was with her on the evening in question.

Y. M. C. A. to Offer Special Courses

R. R. Russick, director of physical education at the Y. M. C. A., will be back on the job again Monday, after a few days' vacation at Yosemite.

Mr. Russick is planning to offer special courses of work during the summer for men and boys who need special attention. The lighter attendance at the regular classes gives him time to attend, better, to individual cases. Instruction in swimming, and advice and instruction as to lines of individual exercises and general health habits will be a specialty of his work this summer.

His services are available to all members of the Y. M. C. A. without extra cost, except in cases requiring extra work. Both men and boys are taught to swim and dive in the Y swimming pool, as a regular part of the physical department work. Mr. Russick invites consultation with those who feel the need of any sort of physical training or health building work. Beginning on Monday, he will be available for consultations, at the Y. M. C. BETTER FLOOR SERVICE PLAN OF BATTERYMEN

Improvements in battery service will come to hundreds of thousands of Southern California car owners, following a meeting of the "Bone Dry club" of Willard Battery service station proprietors, in Los Angeles last night. The club draws its membership from Orange, Los Angeles, San Diego, Riverside, Ventura and San Bernardino counties.

Earl L. Mathews, manager of the Orange County Ignition works, attended from Santa Ana.

As a part of the better service movement, it was agreed to reduce the price of large classes of standard batteries.

Patrons will be advised to come in for more regular and frequent battery inspection, thereby avoiding many battery troubles. In this way they will secure longer battery life as well as fewer difficulties with other parts of the electrical system of a car.

In floor service it will be the policy of the Willard stations to employ their best qualified and experienced men in meeting the public. It is held that the best men of the organization can, on floor duty, detect imperfections in ignition and give the car owners profitable information.

The improved service will, in every sense, be a money saver for the patrons.

POWERS READY TO CONFER WITH CHINA

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Foreign domination of the international settlement of Shanghai, from which Chinese jurisdiction has been excluded for many years, may be taken up by the powers in discussion of the Shanghai riots, the state department was advised today. The diplomatic body of Peking has intimated to the Chinese government that, if the government desires, they are disposed to request the authorization of their respective governments to discuss, in a most friendly spirit, the propositions presented at Shanghai, a department announcement said. These propositions which concerned the organization of the international settlement and the administration of justice there, were large factors in the lack of agreement which caused the breakdown of June 1 of Shanghai conference between representatives of the diplomatic corps and the Chinese government.

Navy's Hawaiian Airplane Flight Plan Announced

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The Pacific coast to Hawaii naval airplane flight probably will start September 2, the navy department announced today. It has not yet been decided whether it will take off at San Diego or San Francisco.

Capt. Stanford E. Moses, commander of the aircraft squadron of the battle fleet, has been placed in command of the flight. The route of the flight will be patrolled by 10 vessels. The battle ship Arizona, the aircraft carrier Langley and the aircraft tender Aroostook will be stationed 600 miles apart between the mainland and the islands to gather weather observations. Six destroyers—the Dore, Farragut, McCawley, William Jones, Meyer and Reno, will be scattered at 200 mile intervals in the gaps between the station ships. In addition, two mine sweepers will patrol the route.

Considerable rivalry between San Diego and San Francisco, for the honor of being the starting point of the flight, is understood to be the reason for the delay in selecting the hop-off city.

Sees Twin Drown In Quarry Pool

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Stricken with cramps while swimming in a 30-foot sediment pool in a stone quarry here, Tony Mazzotti, 15, was drowned today.

Tony's twin brother, William, stood by and witnessed the drowning, helpless to save him. William's cries brought workmen to the pool just as his brother was sinking below the muddy surface for the third time. The twins, according to quarry officials, violated company orders by climbing over a fence to swim in the pool.

Philip Jude a workman, narrowly escaped drowning when he jumped into the pool in a futile effort to save the boy. Fellow workmen dragged Jude from the pool.

Fullerton Oil Man Robbed and Burned to Death

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Neal Benson, 55, Fullerton oil worker, was robbed and burned to death here today by holdup men, according to police.

Benson's charred body was found in bed when police officers investigated a fire at his lodging house. He had been stripped of $1800 and the mattress on which he was sleeping was set afire by the robbers, police said. J. F. Nolan, another oil worker, was sleeping on a nearby bed when the officers broke into their room.

Two men were seen hurrying away from the rooming house after the proprietor had turned in a fire alarm.

"The fire's out," they said, and fled.

Benson was found lying on his bed unconscious. The room was in flames and his clothes were afire.

Nolan, apparently drunk, left the room unaided, police said. Four men, according to investigators, went to the rooming house last night and engaged lodging. Benson told the proprietor he had just withdrawn $1800 from the bank to buy an automobile.

Police believe two of the four men plied Benson with poison liquor, took his money, and fired the bed on which he was sleeping.

Financial and Market News

WALL ST. JOURNAL

NEW YORK, June 20.—With many of the large operators away over Sunday, stocks were quiet in the week end session. However, the steadiness of the general list and the entire absence of selling pressure even in special issues supplies a strong foundation for operation on the conservative side of selective stocks.

Billy Evans Says

Sportsmanship seems to be waging a losing battle with the desire to win.

It is odd, yes extraordinary, how far people will go out of their way in an effort to put over some scheme that will laid in victory.

Recently, it was discovered that a certain prominent club had concocted a most unusual stunt in an effort to lessen the effectiveness of opposition pitchers.

On many major and minor league parks it is customary to have a pitching rubber and plate for the twirlers to warm up by. These pitching lanes are either off the side of the diamond or in the bull pen.

In baseball the so-called bull pen is where the relief pitchers are stationed to answer emergency calls. Usually the pitching lanes are there.

UNUSUAL SCHEME

These pitching lanes are supposed to be the regulation distance, so that the relief twirlers or the pitching selection for the day can properly test his control.

It seems a visiting club invariably had trouble with its pitching when playing at a certain park. There was a tendency to wildness on the part of even the pitchers noted for good control.

WALKER AND SHADE TO MEET AT VERNON

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Mickey Walker, welterweight champion signed a contract to meet Dave Shade at Vernon July 21, according to an announcement by Jack Doyle. This puts it up squarely to Shade, as he has not signed yet. The fight will be held at the welterweight limit of 147 pounds, and the purse is said to be more than $50,000, with Walker guaranteed $30,000.

SHORT SPORTS

DEAL, N. J.—Jesse Sweetzer, former national champion, and Larry M. Lloyd, Greenwich, Conn., will meet today on the Hollywood course here in the final round of the Metropolitan amateur golf championship.

TULSA, Okla.—Wayne "Big" Munn was victor over Joe "Toots" Mondt, heavyweight, in their match here last night when he put the latter's shoulders to the mat in two straight falls. The first fall came in 38 minutes with a crotch hold after the pair had engaged in a boxing bout. The second fall came in 10 minutes and six seconds.

SAN FRANCISCO—A scheduled bout last night between Lefty Cooper, Oakland, and Joe Simonich, Butte, Mont., was called off when doctors pronounced Simonich suffering from a swollen back and kidney trouble. As a result, the whole scheduled card was cancelled. Simonich has been ordered to bed. He believes he was hurt in his fight with Morrie Schlaffier.

Salvadore to Box O'Brien at Vernon

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Phil Salvadore, who lost to Sammy Mandell in the recent Ascat light-weight tournament, will meet Tommy O'Brien, winner over Ace Huddins in the same bill, in a 10-round main event bout at Vernon a week from Tuesday.

Frankie Garcia and Johnny Lamarr may be matched for the semi-windy Matchmaker Hayden Wadhams announced.

SIX GAMES ON SUNDAY'S B. B. PROGRAM HERE

Shell Oil, a team that wouldn't look so bad in Class A company, will be the headliner of Orange county's baseball program tomorrow afternoon. Six games are on the Sabbath card so local fans and fanettes should find the day an interesting one.

The crack Long Beach outfit, holder of the Pacific Coast record for consecutive victories, comes to Irvine for a Summer Major league match. The visitors will bring along a jazz band and a flock of rooters and they'll also bring along a nifty ball club.

Jimmy Blewett, former University of California football ace, has been added to the Shell payroll and will hold down an outfield berth. Blewett is a terrific hitter and the Long Beach brigade figure the left field fence at Irvine is made just to suit him.

Fred Fairbank will pitch for the Royal Dutchmen and Frank Metz, Bud de la Guerra, Cuyler, Billy Orr and all the other regulars will be in the lineup.

Against this formidable array of talent Irvine will send the team that last Sunday trimmed Pasadena, 3 to 1. Fans will remember that it was Pasadena that won 5 to 4, from Shell Oil after the Long Beachers had won 29 games in a row.

Cy Williams will pitch for the Beanpickers with Earl Ibrig receiving. Arndt will be at first, Hinrichs second, Mitchell third and Hunter short. Arambel, Nelson and Dagley will be used in the gardens.

Five most interesting and important contests are to be played in the Orange County Summer league. The headliner is expected to be that at Tustin between the Tustin and Van Dien-Young company squads. These two teams are among the four tied for first place.

The Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce nine travels to Costa Mesa to clash with the Orange Moose. The Shields Paint company goes to Westminster. Wood men of the World and the Bowman-Petersons toil at American Legion park here. Cypress and El Modena clinch at El Modena.

TOD MORGAN EASILY OUTPOINTS M'LEAN

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Tod Morgan, Vallejo, Cal., feather weight champion of the Pacific coast, won the decision from Steward McLean of St. Paul, in 10 rounds at the Hollywood Legion stadium last night.

Morgan took six rounds and McLean four. The pace was terrific with McLean ahead early in the fight, and Morgan pulling even and out in front in the latter stages.

The winner will be matched with Kid Kaplan, it was said.

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's hero—Goose Goslin hit three homers—one in the twelfth inning with a runner on base, and gave the Senators a 7 to 5 victory over the Indians.

Earl Combs singled in the 11th inning and scored in the run that enabled the Yankees to beat the White Sox 4 to 3.

Mickey Cochran and Welch stole home in the seventh inning and helped the Athletics beat the Browns 13 to 9.

The Reds scored three runs on a ninth inning rally but the Giants had an early lead and they won 5 to 4.

Six runs scored on a bombardment in the seventh inning gave the Pirates a 9 to 6 victory over the Robins.

The Cards made it seven victories in a row by downing the Braves 3 to 0.

Tavener tripled in the tenth inning and drove in two of the runs that gave the Tigers a 6 to 3 victory over the Red Sox.

Mokhe hit a homer and three singles in four times up and batted the Phils to a five to four victory over the Cubs.

STAR HURLER UNABLE TO WIN GAME IN FIRST EIGHT WEEKS

One of the greatest pitchers in baseball yet unable to win a game during the first eight weeks of play. That is the peculiar position in which Wait Hoyt, star right hander of the New York Yankees, finds himself.

The inability of Hoyt to win consistently is one of the several reasons why the much-feared Yankees have been trailing in the second division since the opening of the season.

American league batters will tell you that no pitcher in the league has a better fast ball than Wait Hoyt. His change of pace is most deceptive. His fast-breaking curve is very puzzling.

Included in Hoyt's pitching repertoire is a slow curve. It seems every pitcher has his hobby. Using the slow curve, usually in the pinch, is Hoyt's.

Han't Finished Game

Opposing batters say that Hoyt's slow curve is the least effective of all his deliveries. Knowing his faith in such a ball, they look for it in the pinch.

They do say that Hoyt would be 25 per cent more effective if he eliminated the slow curve from his repertoire. However, that is just part of the story.

Wait Hoyt, boasting perhaps the best fast ball in the major leagues and a dazzling change of pace, during the first two months of play in the American League has been unable to win a single ball game.

Even more surprising is the fact that he hasn't been able to finish a ball game. Ordinarily with the season one-third over, a pitcher with Hoyt's stuff should and would have won from six to 10 victories to his credit.

Jinx Pursues Hoyt

Certainly a jinx seems to be on Hoyt's trail this season. In at least a half dozen games he has appeared certain of victory only to have some tough break deprive him of it. Either he has lost the game or some other pitcher has received credit for the victory.

Just to illustrate the workings of the jinx: In a recent game with St. Louis, two out in the ninth and New York leading, 5 to 2, it looked as if Hoyt would surely go over a winner.

If Hoyt has one fault, it is an inclination to grow careless. With two down, the next batter hit weakly to Hoyt. He played the ball rather nonchalantly, it got away from him and the batter beat the play. It should have been the third out, ending the game.

The next St. Louis batter hit a home run. That made the score 5-4. The following batter hit another home run, the score was tied. Hoyt was removed and Pennington finished. The Yanks won the game in the 10th inning.

However, a bit of carelessness had wasted eight innings of superb pitching.

PICK HUSKIES FROM PACIFIC FOR CREW WIN

Washington '8' to Defend National Title Monday; Penn Has Good Chance

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, June 20.—Seven major varsity crews will row for the championship Monday on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie in the second big water classic of the season.

With the exception of the "Big Three" which may not be missed, the field includes all the important crews in the country, such as Washington, the defending champions; Wisconsin, the Navy, Syracuse, Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania.

Yale and Harvard, just out of their annual race yesterday, could not jump into another race on short notice, even if the officials looked more kindly upon the event, and Princeton refuses to send a crew over the four mile distance.

Washington will be heavily backed to win the championship again in spite of the gloomy statements that have been issued by "Rusty" Callow, the Washington coach.

Ed Leader, former Washington coach, who is now handling the Yale crews, said yesterday in New London that Washington was good enough to win, and Ed Stevens, the Harvard coach, expressed the same opinion. They said Washington was just as strong as the championship eight of 1924 and that the eastern crews were not above the average.

Long shot players probably will take a flyer on the Pennsylvania crew, which is generally regarded as the big threat in the race.

The Navy is the hope of the east. It is the general opinion that it will be a three way race between Washington, Navy and Pennsylvania with the other four crews out of the running.

Yale showed another brilliant crew in winning the four mile race from Harvard on the Thames river at New London last evening. The Harvard eight was better than any crew in the past four years but was not good enough to last out with Yale.

38 SENIORS AT TUSTIN SCHOOL ARE GRADUATED

Prof. Raymond P. Brooks Of Pomona College Is Main Speaker

TUSTIN, June 20.—Thirty-eight students received their diplomas at the local high school last night. The class is the first to complete the four year course in the high school here and is the only class which has attended school in Tustin. It is also the third class to graduate from the school.

Prof. Raymond P. Brooks, of Pomona college, delivered the address of the evening. Brooks' subjects were "The Challenge of a New Day."

"The ideal of education is arising and that people are trying for the first time to base civilization on education," Brooks declared. He declared that the moral and social world was undergoing a transformation, and added that the challenge of the day must be met in the public school system.

"This is a hard time in which it is hard to tell what is right and what is wrong. Humanity is at the crossroads," he said.

New ideals are responsible for the changes and unrest in the world at the present time, he declared.

Musical numbers by the Girls Glee club and the high school orchestra were enjoyed. Hugh Runnels, a member of the graduating class, was also heard in several solo numbers. He was accompanied by Miss Thelma Artz, at the piano.

One of the features of the evening was the presentation of George Harris of the J. W. Means gold medal to the student who does the best work for the school during the four year term. In presenting the medal, Means paid high tribute to the service of Harris to the school.

Mrs. Florence Stanley, president of the school board, presented the class diplomas. Graduates are as follows:

Calumpit Camp

Calumpit camp and auxiliary, U. S. W. V., will hold a joint social gathering in Orange County park, June 23, starting with a basket dinner at 7 o'clock. Coffee and trimmings will be furnished by the committee in charge.

Last Tuesday evening, the camp met at 7:30 p. m. for a short business session and elected two candidates to become members of the camp. About 8:30 o'clock, the camp adjourned to meet in joint session with the auxiliary for flag day exercises. Patriotic instruction by Robert H. Lee took charge of the meeting and the following program was rendered: Salute to the colors; renewing the pledge of allegiance to the flag; two vocal solos, by Miss Vincent, of Brea; two readings by Mrs. Russell, of Brea; short address by Capt. F. L. Carrier, of Santa Ana; "Obedience to Law," address by Major E. J. Marks, of the Fullerton post, American Legion; "The Soul of the Flag of Our Country," short addresses by Commander W. W. Tantlinger, of the camp, and Nannie H. Reed, president of the Auxiliary.

Preparations are about complete for the dance at the American Legion hall, Santa Ana, June 26. The general public is invited.

The camp and auxiliary voted to join the Citrus Belt U. S. W. V. club and Senior Vice Commander M. C. Cooper and Historian Charles E. Dixon were appointed the representatives of the camp for the club, while May Glaze and Jamie Kelsey were appointed to like positions for the auxiliary.

On June 27, the auxiliary will hold a cooked food sale during the afternoon at 208 West Fourth st.

OVER 100 BEAUTIES TO BE SEEN TOMORROW IN ANNUAL BATHING PARADE, BALBOA

Review Scheduled to Begin At 1 O'clock at Balboa Pavilion

BALBOA, June 20.—More than 100 bathing beauties will be seen in the annual bathing beauty review here tomorrow. The parade is scheduled to get under way from the Balboa Pavilion at 1 p. m., according to announcement today by Madame LaRue, who is in charge of the parade.

The girls who are entered in the parade have been asked to gather at the beach at an early hour in the morning for all photographs and for final instructions for the parade.

The girls will parade from the pavilion to the board walk. Turning west on the walk, they will go to Alvarado street, where cars will be waiting for them. After entering the machines, they will be driven to Newport Beach on the walk. At Newport Beach they will again hold a short parade before returning to Balboa, where they will walk out on the pier for the judging.

According to Madame LaRue, nearly 100 girls will be in the review. Prizes, including trophies with two motion picture cameras, will go to the winners. A number of cash prizes have also been arranged.

Special motor bus service and Pacific Electric car service has been arranged to both cities and special arrangements have been made to care for the traffic situation. Limited parking space is available at both Balboa and Newport and it is expected that many people will make use of the bus and street car service. The largest crowd in the history of the beach towns is expected.

As an additional feature Tom Wade, and his brother Charles Wade, of Newport Beach, who recently completed their hydro-glider, will offer the winners of the parade a ride around the bay in their power boat. The glider, which is set on three pontoons in the water will develop a speed of between 40 and 50 miles per hour on the water, it is claimed.

FINANCES IN ANAHEIM ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

ANAHEIM, June 20.—Anaheim's financial affairs are in an excellent condition, and the city has not only been operated at a great saving during the past six months, but has also been operated on a basis of greater efficiency, according to a semi-annual report made on the budget allowance by City Manager J. W. Price.

Although the city trustees have not reduced the effectiveness of any department, since November the city has operated at a saving of $774.62 from the budget allowed for the period. Expenditures for the month show that the former administration was unable to cut the budget figures, while the present board has effected a saving of more than $2000 monthly.

Successful efforts of the present administration to curb wastefulness in handling the taxpayers' money, has been accomplished, as is revealed in the following monthly report: November, $26,686; December, $22,591; January, $22,203; February, $17,224; March, $18,944; April, $22,855.

For the first half of the financial year the budget allotted the various departments was $139,769, and the expenditures over that period have been $132,025. For the first three months of the budget year the budget allotted the various departments was $171,410. During the three months which have elapsed since the present administration was placed in control the cost has been reduced to $58,025, or $13,355 less than for the first half of the period.

DAUGHTER OF NOTED AUTHOR U. S. C. STUDENT

Miss Virginia Van Loan Seeks to Emulate Father In Literary World

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 20.—One of the most interesting and promising students taking the journalism course at the University of Southern California is Miss Virginia Van Loan, daughter of the late Charles Van Loan, foremost sport writer and raconteur of his day, according to Huntington Beach students who have returned from the Los Angeles university.

The following interview with Miss Van Loan was written by Chester Mackie, one of her fellow students:

According to her professors, Miss Van Loan has unusual ability as a writer, having originality. Miss Van Loan, however, is not much concerned with her abilities and admits that she as present fails to take them seriously.

"More than once I have been criticized by my English professors for being so unsteady in my writing," Miss Van Loan said. "I've been writing in spurts, but I believe that I have plenty of time yet to write. Right now I want to live, and I am going to live as long as I can. Later on I shall write."

The home extraordinary—There are but five rooms in this little gem of a home, but for the small family nothing could be sweeter.

Built on the lines of the Flemish type bungalow, with pitched roof and uneven shingles, the outer appearance invites your further inspection. On entering you are immediately impressed with the interior design. The small hall leads to a very large living room which is finished with mahogany trim, the paper is of pure imported flock; the fireplace of the finest tile.

And then we have the dining room, the bedrooms, bath, kitchen, grounds, etc. But enough of description, we must leave some for the imagination. However, we'll tell you this, it's in just the best location in town, the street is paved, the lot 60 foot wide and the price is $5500.

Wouldn't you like to see it? You can.

Business matters compel us to leave California and return to Ohio. Some one is going to profit from this. Are you the lucky party?

We Will Sell Our 2 1/2 Acre Ranch

The balance is in Valencia oranges, with heavy crop set for next year. Near little three room house and double garage, with modern chicken equipment and about 200 chickens.

THE ONLY SAFE COURSE

While The Register is fully committed, without doubt or misgivings, to the Lippincott plan for the improvement and expansion of Santa Ana's water works, we have given most sincere and respectful and careful consideration to all objections offered to that plan. And we have been predisposed to consider these objections sympathetically—certainly not with hostility—because through them all runs the same thread of disappointment that was ours, because the plan was not essentially a conservation plan.

It seems clear, however, especially in the light of Engineer Lippincott's reply to Dr. Ball (published in yesterday's Register) and Col. Finley's article (published elsewhere in this paper) that the emergency is such that improvement and expansion cannot wait on conservation, and that the emergency plan is in complete economic and engineering harmony with any and all conservation that may be achieved in the future.

In matters of this kind it seems to us there is but one rational course for the community to pursue, and that is to act upon the advice of the best hydraulic engineering ability available. Feeling their responsibility as citizens and representatives of the people, that is the course pursued by the City Trustees, by the Chamber of Commerce, by the Realty Board, by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, by most of the service clubs, by a very large majority of the business men of the city; and we believe it is the only safe course for any citizen or voter to follow.

When we are sick we consult a physician, when we want legal advice we must depend on a lawyer, in matters of finance we consult our banker, and when we build water works we must be guided by a competent hydraulic engineer. And in the present water emergency we have had not only the advice of the best hydraulic engineer in the state, but the plan he proposes has been carefully considered and checked by our own City Engineer and Water Works Superintendent and by our City Trustees, all of whom have been studying local water conditions for years, and who are certainly more competent to judge of the merits of the Lippincott plan than the average citizen.

We believe that the objections offered to the Lippincott plan have been fully and satisfactorily answered by Mr. Lippincott and Col. Finley. And we believe also that a careful and candid analysis of these objections will reveal the fact that they are more academic than logical, and have their inception in the natural disappointment, common to us all, over the fact that conservation plan for immediate relief was found to be impractical.

THE ETERNAL NOW

Warren S. Stone, so long president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who has just died, had an unusual motto to live by. It was "The Eternal Now," preached so eloquently half a century ago by Thomas Carlyle.

It is a striking phrase, and a true one. It drives home the everlasting fact that in spite of memories of the past and dreams of the future, all that we have to live in is the present. Life is slipping, moment by moment, from the future eternity into the past eternity, and only the moment between is ours to think and act. It is this ever-changing moment that shapes the single life and affects human destiny.

The dreamer who uses up his present in dwelling on the past or future does nothing, gets nowhere, creates neither work nor character. That is the teaching of the old Scottish philosopher, on which Mr. Stone shaped his life.

"Work while it is called today for the morrow cometh wherein no man can work." That is a more famous expression of the same philosophy.

Yet there is a limit to all things. The good, driven to excess, may become bad. Warren S. Stone was accustomed to labor 16 hours a day. He accomplished a great work, and he lived a fair length of years, as human lives go; yet with his vigor he might have gone farther and done more if he had not ridden his ideal so hard. Physicians say he "died of overwork."

That is never justifiable save in a great cause; and even a great cause may be better served by occasional leisure than by everlasting exertion and strain. The man who takes time to relax along with his work, and think forward and back, is apt to see more clearly and waste less effort.

LOWER POSTAL REVENUES

The Postoffice Department finds its receipts diminishing when they were expected to increase. The receipts in 50 selected postoffices, which turn in more than half of the country's total postal receipts, are said to have fallen off more than $20,000 a day in the last few weeks.

The rates on various classes of mail matter were raised on April 15, to take care of the wage increase given postal employees.

There is no convincing evidence of a drop in general business activity accounting for this loss. Business is well sustained. It looks, from the evidence so far, as if the drop in receipts is due rather to the higher postal rate.

This need not cause surprise. It is the same natural law that appears in the income tax discussions. In taxation, as in land cultivation, there is what economists call "a point of diminishing returns," beyond which higher rates are useless.

SHORT-LIVED BOOKS

A businessman fulfilled a long-time purpose the other day by buying "Mr. Britling Sees It Through" and starting to read it. To his surprise he found that the presence of the 9-year-old book on his desk was the occasion of many jokes from all who passed that way. So the reader asks:

"For how long a period after publication is it considered respectable to be seen in company with a modern book?"

"What laws (established by the Medes and Persians) govern the transformation of a book into a classic?"

"Is an outdated book saved by becoming a literary barb by being initiated into the select fraternity of Everyman or Modern Library or Five-Foot Shelfism or even Haldeman-Julius?

"Is a widely discussed novel more speedily and energetically ostracized than its less popular contemporary; and if so, is this because its usually 'dates'?"

"Do the novels of 1915 infringe on the space belonging to ex-safety razor blades in the basement of the Grand Canyon?"

To all of which questions there is considerable point. A book that was worth writing and worth reading nine years ago out to be worth reading now. Probably most greatly discussed novel books sink shortly into a period of retirement simply because the public can't hold its attention to one volume more than a year or two and because new books come crowding in and demanding discussion. But a good book eventually emerges from that retirement and is again read, not frantically for its popularity but quietly and leisurely for enjoyment and thought. Other books, of course, never emerge from that retirement. They vanish completely from the public ken, and they're never even missed.

Wise readers do not use the best-seller lists for their reading guide.

Help For California Indian

San Francisco Chronicle.

The California Indian deserves consideration. He did nothing to the white man. The white man did everything to him, and crowns the injustice now by virtually denying the few remaining descendants of the aborigines the right to live.

The California Indian was rich before the white man came. The white man took his lands, killed off his game and destroyed his salmon. The white man gave the Indian whiskey and the civilized diseases. After this, with a show of generosity, he gave the few remaining red men some barren, stony reservations and "allotments"—in almost all cases land no white man would have.

It is all very well to say the Indian has the same chance as a white man. That would be true only if he were a white man. But he isn't, and he is not going to be. He is an Indian, and laws or theories can't make him anything else. The white man's way of living is not his, and his own way has been taken from him.

It should be remembered, too, that the California Indian for the most part was never the slightest bother to the whites. He was too mild to be warlike, though he had plenty of provocation. Treaties made with the California Indian have not been kept. Promises of land have been met only with the miserable "allotments," not worth a year's taxes.

Justice and decency require that provision be made for the few Indians left in California.

Safety Measures Needed

San Francisco Chronicle.

Heretofore the safeguarding of surf swimmers on the ocean beach has hardly been a problem with San Francisco. The bathing beaches within the bay have had the call so that few tried the ocean surf. Now the immense popularity of the Fleishacker pool has changed the situation. Among the thousands of bathers who go to the beach to enjoy the safe and sheltered waters of the great concrete basin there are always some who are tempted by the surf outside.

Surf swimming at the ocean beach is admittedly dangerous. There is no doubt of the existence of strong currents and tide-rips due to the impounding and outpouring the tide through the Golden Gate. It is no place for the weak, the unskillful or the inexperienced.

Yet just such swimmers will try the surf. Warning signs will not keep them out; prohibitions are futile; the fact that several lives have been lost recently has no effect. Only positive safeguards will protect those who venture in. There must be lifelines at least; perhaps anchored floats outside the breakers; and, if necessary, regular life guards on the beach. These are only the ordinary precautions taken by most cities that have ocean beaches. We can do without them no longer.

Prepare Now to Protect Forests

Redlands Facts.

Leading Pacific coast lumbering men and federal officials have been conferring in San Francisco for the purpose of working out plans designed to lessen the annual forest fire hazard. It is the first time that such a gathering has been called for the purpose of co-ordinating forest fire prevention measures.

The chief forester of the United States and representatives of various timber associations and individual lumbermen attended the conference. Such preventive measures as oil burners, instead of coal or wood engines for sawmills; equipment of mills with fire pumps and the constant cleaning up of inflammable material where timber cutting is going on were considered.

To secure the maximum results in forest protection the public must realize that a large part of the responsibility for forest fires rests on its shoulders and campers and users of our forests and forest roads should use the greatest care in starting and putting out camp fires and in discarding matches, cigar and cigarette stubs and pipe ashes.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

ROUNDING UP DISEASE

Some years ago the real emphasis of pure breed, health conditions and hygienic living was confined largely to cattle and stock. Of course, this was more prominent in western states where many large ranches were situated. The improvement was marked.

Now, people are coming to believe more and more that it is more important to give the same intelligent, scientific care and attention to growing children that they have been compelled by law to give their cattle. Isn't it rather strange that no law has yet been passed which insures healthy parentage to the children?

Health boards in both states and counties, physicians in charge of government tests and institutes, home associations and clubs of prominent women have put their shoulders to the back of this great health program for better babies and robust, healthy children. In one county in Montana the campaign against defective teeth has resulted in reducing the number of such teeth in children from 43 to 31 per cent during the past two years. This indicates how many stomach ulcers and diseases kidneys this one country has prevented through pus and infection from abscessed and diseased teeth.

Mouth breathing, with its attendant evils of throat disease, lung trouble and often loss of hearing, has by proper operations and widespread warnings been reduced over 50 per cent.

Perhaps the best showing of all was the campaign just closed in Carson county, which banished every disease spot that could be located. At a health program, over 40 miles from a railroad, where 60 children were examined after one year of treatment to show the per cent of improvement, every parent was present, some of them driving 40 miles.

Get your local board interested in local health conditions. Try and round up the destroying germs and bacteria that rob our children of robust health.

When Is a Vacation Not a Vacation

A City's Business

Bakersfield Californian.

The city council of Los Angeles has begun a series of sessions with a view to paring the expenses for the coming year, that being necessary through the fact that the income of the city will be $20,000,000 and the several departments have made estimates of expenditures that will exceed $30,000,000.

It is timely to remark that what the city of Los Angeles is doing through its city council now is what every business does; and to enterprise can succeed on the hit-and-miss plan. There must be definite knowledge of what the cost of operation is to be, and always that cost must not exceed the available income. The business house that neglects to recognize this A, B, C of business is well on the way to the bankruptcy court. And there is no reason why the business of the city should not be conducted exactly as in the business of a private concern; in fact, there is every reason why it should be.

The great need of the time, as has been pointed out by President Coolidge, is more business in government. He himself, is setting an example to the country that cannot fail to be of great value. Certainly through that example more care will result in budgeting the municipality in counties and states than has been displayed during past years, and that is essential if the great evil of the time, excessive governmental costs, is to be corrected.

Worth While Verse

IN THE FIRELIGHT

The fire upon the hearth is low.
And there is stillness everywhere,
While like winged spirits, here and there,
The firelight shadows flitting go.
And as the shadows round me creep,
A childish treble breaks the gloom,
And softly from a further room
Comes, "Now I lay me down to sleep."

And somehow, with that little prayer
And that sweet treble in my ears,
My thoughts go back to distant years
And linger with a loved one there;
And as I hear my child's amen,
My mother's faith comes back to me—
Crouched at her side I seem to be,
And mother holds my hands again.

Oh, for an hour in that dear place!
Oh, for the peace of that dear time!
Oh, for that childish trust sublime!
Oh, for a glimpse of mother's face!
Yet, as the shadows round me creep,
I do not seem to be alone—
Sweet magic of that treble tone,
And "Now I lay me down to sleep."
—Eugene Field.

Time to Smile

PROTECTING THE COLLECTION

A clergyman gave out the hymn, "I love to steal awhile away," and the deacon who led the singing began, "I love to steal—" but found he had pitched the note too high. Again he began, "I love to steal," but this time it was too low. Once more he tried, "I love to steal—" and again got the pitch wrong. After the third failure the minister said: "Observing our brother's propensities, let us pray."—The Progressive Grocer.

Little Benny's Note Book

by Leo Pope

Me and pop went errand to the Little Grand Sattidy afternoon to see a Kup Up Comedy with Squidge Jones and Luella Dippers in it, he being one of the greatest Kup Up Comedies I ever saw called Flipping the Flops, and after it was over me and pop started to walk home, pop saying, Well, Benny, how do you feel after that exhibition of unrestrained violence?

I feel all rite, I sed, and pop sed, Do you mean to say you have no desire to walk up to a policeman and kick him, or anything of that sort?

No sir, I sed, and pop sed, Well I have, and theres a pieceman down at the corner rite now, lets cross over and walk on the other side, I cant tell wat mite happen. And we went across the street, not seeming like a very good idea to me on account of my new shoes herting, and as soon as we go neer the corner the cop started to cross over and pop quick started to cross back agen, saying, My goodness this is awfull, even if I just kicked him easy he would probberly do something about it, you must never take me to see ap ickture like that agen, Benny.

And we kept on wawking home, me wishing my shoes didnt hurt, and some man was standing on a ladder painting a sign over a store, pop saying, Benny, do you feel almost uncontrollable desire to stumble over that ladder and make that honest workman spill his paint and perhaps himself?

No sir, I sed, and pop sed, Thats queer, because I do, come on, we'd better cross over agen before we get to the ladder. Which we started to do, me saying, Aw G whizz, pop, my shoes and feet hert. Well then Ill try not to tred on them, although bleeve me Im strongly tempted to after the things I saw in that picture, you better not wawk quite to neare me to be quite safe, pop sed.

And he made me go across the street with him 3 more times before we got home, twice on account of pieceman and once on account of a man in a wite apron carrying a big wooden thing full of pies.

To Normalcy

Great Britain's grappling iron has recovered the strongest anchor of financial stability ever forged by the civilized world. Winston Churchill's announcement flatly and finally puts an end to all the debate of recent years whether the French currency and all other continental currencies still in a depressed condition should be newly evaluated and "manipulated" in terms of sterling or of dollar. The debate is at an end because the difference between sterling and the dollar has come to an end. Both are synonymous with gold. This being the case—a common standard having been re-established between the world's two greatest financial powers—the last risk has gone that any substantial part of the world will at any time within the measurably distant future abandon the gold standard.—Boston Transcript.

(Which may or may not be in harmony with the views of the Register.)

THE HOME MERCHANT SHOULD NOT MOURN—A lady who mailed two copies of the big city Sunday newspapers, the other day, had to pay twenty-three cents postage.

Fair enough. For everyone wishing to send those many-paged Sunday newspapers, which are not really newspapers at all, should not use the mails but send them by freight.

Slower, of course, but if they failed entirely to reach their destination no great loss would accrue.

Anyway, the increase in postal rates was one of the best things Uncle Sam has done for a long time. One result of the raise in rates will be that the post office will no longer be run as a sort of adjunct to, and side-partner of, Sears-Roebuck and other big mail order houses, with the United States government acting as their sales agent, carrying their goods at a loss, delivering them, and collecting the price thereof for a nominal fee.

No, whoever else should mourn because of the increase in postal rates, the home merchant should most certainly not.

ANOTHER OLD-TIMER GOING TO A CONVENTION—It would almost seem that Santa Ana had concluded to get rid of all the old-timers, by sending them east as delegates to conventions. At any rate, Mit Phillips is going to Boston next month as a delegate to the great Rexall convention, which is probably the biggest thing in America in the drug line.

Mit was in the drug business in Santa Ana when Rex was simply "Rex" and not by any means "all". Mit is in good financial circumstances, but he didn't make all his money in the drug business. He made a lot singing. Along in the early '90s he used to sing "Johnny Schfoker" and "In the Good Old Summer Time", and lots of people were willing, indeed glad, to pay him good money to stop.

Here's hoping that Mr. Phillips will have a very pleasant time at New York, Boston and way stations.

LOS ANGELES IS IMMUNE—A slight earthquake shock was reported by Los Angeles one day last week.

Some mistake, somewhere! Everyone knows that Los Angeles has no earthquakes—is not permitted to have 'em. A city ordinance absolutely forbids anything of the kind within the city limits.

The consequence is that earthquakes, according to the Los Angeles newspapers, sometimes are "very severe at San Bernardino," and "do considerable damage at Redlands," but do not trouble Los Angeles at all.

TWO REASONS, BOTH GOOD—A Vienna baker has been given eight months' imprisonment and fined 1,500,000 (What is it, kronen?) for demanding too high a price for bread.

For two reasons, local bakers need not fear being called on to pay an amount of money. One reason is that local bakers charge fair prices only. The other reason—well, any local baker will tell you what the other reason is.

IT HAPPENS SO SOMETIMES—It is being recalled that it is just 110 years since the battle of Waterloo was fought, and many are discussing the terrific fight which resulted in the downfall of Napoleon.

The armistice who, immediately after the battle of Waterloo, dismissed the subject with the comment: "The battle was a draw."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

"Yellow-cap Pinknose, the fairy, went toward his grandmother's house in the old apple tree," said Mi O' Mi, the Story Teller.

"And as he went along carrying his lunch, he kept doing kind things for all the creatures he met."

"First he saved the spotty green spider from a crow, by hiding it under his cap."

"The next thing he did was to save Chirk chipmunk from being devoured by that old hapsallion, Wasp Weasel."

"The weasel had waited all day for Chirk to come out of his stone house, but it just happened that the very second the little chipmunk stuck his head out, Yellow-Cap went by!"

"Seeing Wasp's long lanky body hiding behind the tree ready to spring, Yellow-Cap let out a yell that was four times louder than any fairy had ever been heard to yell before."

"And Wasp Weasel was so surprised he thought for a second that Riddy Fox had him, and tumbled over in a heap. The next thing, he was racing like a whitehead away off into the forest."

"Thanks!" called Chirk out of his window. "I'll do something for you some time."

"You're welcome," laughed Yellow-Cap Pinknose, picking up his lunch and trudging on toward his grandmother's to have his measure taken for next winter's mittens and ear-warmers."

"What did he do next?" asked Nancy.

"Let me see!" said Mi O' Mi. "Oh, yes! I think it was Mrs. Squirrel's washing. Her line broke just as the fairy came along—in up in the maple tree she lived, you know."

And Yellow-Cap, seeing what had happened, rang her door-bell and Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.

ment, "Well, they had a fine day for it," little realized what Waterloo meant in the world's history. His view was as cramped as that of the man who, in Hardin county, Kentucky, in 1809, was asked by a returned native, "What is the news?" "There was a boy baby born last night at Thomas Lincoln's house but that's nothing."

That boy, whose birth could not even be classed as news, was Abraham Lincoln!

LAW SEEMS DESIRABLE—The late legislature enacted 998 new laws and the governor signed 452 of them.

Of these new enactments one, at least, would seem to be necessary—a fairly good showing for a California legislature! The law which reduces the number of studies taught in the elementary schools, from twenty-five to twelve, would seem to be a very wise enactment. The child in the elementary school who is asked to study so many subjects can hardly be expected to get more than a smattering of any of them.

A DIFFERENT PEN—Called up the meat market the other day, and found that the price of number one ham was eighty cents per pound. The man who wrote, "The pen is mightier than the sword," must have meant pig pen.

A WORLD-WIDE PARTY—In The Register of June 17th, under the caption, "One Year Ago Today," one finds this: "The party of Premier Smut was defeated in the general parliamentary elections in South Africa."

Be that as it may, there seems to be a great many people who are still believers in Smut.

I KNEW HIM WHEN—On June 17, 1887—and that's thirty-eight years ago—J. G. Quick arrived in Santa Ana, having come to make it his home.

After giving the town a fair trial he seemed perfectly satisfied to stay, and here's hoping that he continues to enjoy life and prosperity for many more years.

SLIGHTLY OVERSTATED—"Governor will shift capital," says the Los Angeles Times, referring to Governor Richardson's intention to spend a part of the summer at Long Beach.

But the governor won't do anything of the kind, and the capital of the state of California will continue to be at Sacramento.

OUR SOVIET FRIENDS—According to official figures, Russia owes this country a sum in excess of $200,000,000.

The Soviet government shows not the slightest intention to pay—indeed does not ever discuss the matter.

That government is, however, perfectly willing to spend big money in the attempt to undermine the government and laws of the United States.

NEW PARTY NEEDED—The Berkeley landlord who declared that no more than one tub bath per week could be permitted to his tenants has had his decision over-ruled by the local court.

Now, it would be in order that a new political party be started in Berkeley with the slogan: "Free and unlimited baths."
